

New Workshop for Princeton University

In the central tower of this proposed new library at Princeton university books will be stored, and each of the humanistic and social science departments will have its headquarters in the other portions of the building, thus carrying out a unique concept for college libraries. A fund of $4,000,000 for the construction and endowment of this building is now being raised. Charles Z. Klauder, of Philadelphia, is the architect.

New Building for Live Stock Exposition

The thirty-sixth International Live Stock exposition, largest agricultural exposition in America, will be held in this new setting at the Chicago Stock Yards November 30 to December 7. To the left is a section of the 4-H Club building, in which the fourteenth national Boys and Girls Club Congress will be held during the same week. Manager B. H. Heide predicts a record-breaking live stock show on the basis of the number of exhibits and the huge attendance figures of the principal state fairs this year.

Hawaiians Honor Their Delegate

Samuel Wilder King, right, Hawaii's delegate to congress, got a real island welcome when he returned to the territory after outstanding services at Washington. He returned to Honolulu with a congressional committee which was to investigate Hawaii's petition to become the forty-ninth state. He is shown with Duke Kahanamoku, world-famous swimmer, and Girlie McShane, Hawaii's famous singer.

IN FULL WAR DRESS

Closeup of picturesque Ras Ismail, one of the fiercest chieftains in Halle Selassie's kingdom, and a man who is leading his tribe into battle against the Italian invaders. An interesting thing to note is that Ismail wears the headdress worn only by the Ethiopian warriors who fought and defeated the Italians at the battle of Adowa in 1896.

Date Bureau Adds Spice to Life

"He must be dark and handsome, have a smart roadster and know how to dance." These are some of the qualifications demanded of Occidental college men by co-eds who patronize the campus date bureau which is now in operation in Los Angeles. Lonely hearts, in strictest confidence, may obtain escorts for any occasion, according to a notice published in the college paper. The registration charge is 10 cents and if the bureau arranges a date with a specified individual, the price jumps to 20 cents.

Home of the Lees Becomes a Shrine

Stratford Hall, birthplace of Gen. Robert E. Lee and the home for generations of a family which has given many famous men to the nation, has become a part of the national heritage. Purchased and restored by the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation, the house, built 200 years ago by Thomas Lee, colonial governor of Virginia, with its 1,000 acre estate, was dedicated in the presence of more than 3,000 men and women at Stratford, Va.

MOVIE AND RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALR

HOLLYWOOD movie actors are having fits all over again about that state income tax—they swear they'll move out of the state, that they'll make fewer pictures and so actually make more money, and all that sort of thing. And they get no sympathy whatever from the people who've been paying state income taxes for years and years, New Yorkers, for example. Miriam Hopkins found a way out when she bought her charming house in New York city. It's owned by the Miriam Hopkins corporation, which makes all the difference in the world. But don't ask how much she paid somebody to think that up! Or perhaps she thought of it herself; she's smart enough to do just that!

M. Hopkins.

and the reserve supply of stationery was exhausted in no time.

Speaking of freckles, Myrna Loy has made them fashionable. Since she went to Europe and was mobbed by the public, there has developed a fad for painting freckles on pretty faces. Helen Hayes' return to radio started the fall season off so far as radio was concerned—though Jack Benny had done his bit the previous Sunday evening with one of his best efforts. Mr. Benny remains one of our best radio comedians, and Michael Bartlett fitted into the new routine very nicely.

Myrna Loy.

ODDS AND ENDS... Mae West has a new white automobile—and her chauffeur wears white uniforms to match it... Lanny Ross' name is really "Lancelot"... Clark Gable's off to Mexico for a vacation... Schumann Heink has started work in her first picture under her new contract... Jean Muir flew to New York for the gala opening of "Midsummer Night's Dream"... Barbara Stanwyck seems to be well started on a return to movies... Paramount wants to borrow Jean Harlow for "National Velvet," it's said—Katherine Hepburn being much better suited to the role... But perhaps harder to borrow... Fox's "Thunder Mountain" is a pretty swell Western.

Bats Not Blind

Contrary to common belief, bats are not blind. They possess very good eyes, which, however, are often hidden in the fur on the face to the extent that they are not readily visible. In addition to eyesight, however, a bat possesses very keen sensory nerves in its wings which enable it to fly about in pitch black without striking any object which may be in its vicinity.

Find Out

From Your Doctor if the "Pain" Remedy You Take Is Safe.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well - Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains... and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

NO ALKALIES FOR ACID INDIGESTION

MILLIONS have found they do not need to stretch their stomachs with strong, caustic alkalies. Physicians have said this habit often brings further acid indigestion. So much more safe and sensible to simply carry a roll of Tums in your pocket. Munch 3 or 4 after meals—or whenever troubled by heartburn, gas, sour stomach. Try them when you feel the effects of last night's party, or when you smoke too much. Tums contain a wonderful antacid which neutralizes acid in the stomach, but never over-alkalizes stomach or blood. As pleasant to eat as candy and only 10c at any drug store.

June Travis is learning to fly, for her role as an aviation hostess in the screen version of that thrilling play, "Ceiling Zero." And she's being taught by an expert—Amelia Earhart.

RKO feels that it has a great picture in "The Return of Peter Grimm," with Lionel Barrymore, Helen Mack and George Breakstone in the cast.

History has certainly been repeating itself in Joan Crawford's case. Perhaps you recall the preliminaries of her marriage to Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—all the denials of an engagement, all the rumors that they had been secretly married, and then the trip to New York, with more rumors and denials, and finally the wedding.

And now we've had Miss Crawford and her new husband, Franck Tone, whom the movie fans were inclined to ignore until he turned in a grand performance in "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," traveling to New York on the same train, engaging a large suite in a hotel, and swearing—at least, she did—that the trip was made for broadcasting purposes—not matrimonial ones.

The suite, incidentally, was on the seventh floor. That's not surprising, though most people like to be high above the tumult of the city's streets. But Californians insist on being near the earth, and when pressed some of them break down and admit that it's because they're afraid of earthquakes!

Some of us can remember way back to the days just after the Crawford-Fairbanks nuptials, when a stary eyed Joan (who surprised her public by using very little make-up and letting all her freckles show), and a devoted Doug Junior held hands even when lunching in a hotel dining room.

Morton Downey's appearance as guest star for Paul Whiteman reminded Paul of the days when Morton was singing regularly with his band; when he wasn't singing he played the French horn—that is, he pretended to play the French horn; he really couldn't play a note, but nobody found that out until he'd become a singing star and didn't care if he never saw a horn again.

Those rumors of impending divorce annoyed Frances Dee and Joel McCrea no end; they swear they're perfectly happy together.

The Sisters of the Skillet started their new radio program recently, and by Friday midnight following their Sunday broadcast they had received 7,000 letters from fans—and it was just a 15-minute broadcast! Took seven extra stenographers to take care of the mail,

THE OLD FAMILY DOCTOR

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

Some one has defined a specialist as one who knows more and more about less and less. There may be more truth in that definition. Not for a moment would we disparage the value of the specialist. There is no doubt but that specialization leads to efficiency. A visit to a modern hospital convinces us of the value of specialization. If your trouble is in the throat, ear, eye, etc., you are immediately sent to a specially trained man in that particular ailment. For every disease there seems to have been trained a specialist who claims to know more about a particular disease than anybody else and whose ability to administer a cure is proportionally superior. Be that as it may. We offer no criticism. It may be in the interest of efficiency. We do feel, however, that the specialist is in danger of claiming a monopoly on the skill necessary to cure a particular ailment, and that this advanced training—so called—what is going on in the world. That will give you an outside interest.

Moreover, it will probably convince you that you were lucky to be born in a country whose next-door neighbors are not drilling troops and building battleships and big guns.

Don't eat just to be eating, or because you like some particular kind of fare.

Europeans are much wiser about eating than Americans, which is why they don't have so much indigestion.

They take a long time at their meals, and, compared to Americans, eat very sparingly and drink very sparingly.

Doctors who specialize on nervous breakdowns wouldn't be very prosperous in Paris or Belgium or Italy.

This life is worth living. It can be lived for many long years, and enjoyed all the time if you keep the machine in running order.

Learn what to eat and how to eat it. Forget your troubles as often as you can.

has a tendency to put into the shadows the services of the all-around physician. The truth is that in many cases the non-specialist has the greater advantage in that he is able to diagnose the trouble from an all-around point of view and not from the narrow confines of a specialist.

In this article the writer desires to make a plea for the place and service of the old family doctor. From our medical schools every year thousands of young men are graduated. They feel that the only place to settle is in the big city, hoping for a while to earn a living while they have the opportunity to specialize. All too few of these young men, and women, too, are willing to go into smaller communities and become the family doctor. They think it looks too old fashioned with little or no possibility of advancement. The truth is, however, that during the depression the doctor in the small town fared better than his colleague in the big city. One of the pathetic experiences witnessed in the last few years in our large centers of population was the exceedingly large number of vacant offices once occupied by doctors.

The place of the old family doctor is unique and should not be sacrificed. Perhaps he is the most trusted man in the community. He enjoys the confidences of the people and knows them more intimately than the city physician. He also enjoys remunerations which no amount of money could buy. Whether state medicine, with a staff of specialists, will ever be put into operation remains to be seen, but may it never displace the old family doctor. Long may he live and serve his community. His services are indispensable.

Malta's History in Rocks

Before history came to be written in books Malta's history was being written in the rocks. The island is curiously scored with cart ruts thousands of years old which end at the coast and seem to show that here is a fragment of what once was a much larger territory. The island was Phoenician. There are dark temples to be explored, hewn out of rock, with mysterious passages and, in one case, a hole in the wall which serves as a megaphone through which the priest, as deity, could thunder forth his oracle. Rock temples, built by masons, include massive pillars that suggest human sacrifices.

Children Share Interest in All Family Matters

By VIOLA WOODVILLE, National Kindergarten Association, New York.

One mother boasts that her children are absolutely loyal in the matter of family affairs. Everything of vital interest, she says, is talked over before the children; each has a vote, and matters are arranged as nearly as possible to the satisfaction of all. Another mother declares that in her home no family matter of importance is ever mentioned before the children for fear they will talk about it outside. Now, which is the better course to follow? For instance, should children understand the financial condition of the family and be informed of family difficulties, or not? One argument against it is the contention that children should be shielded from every worry.

"We are planning to go to college," said Martha Toleman to an aunt who was privileged to know family secrets, "and we expect to travel a good deal—even to Europe," she added impressively. "So, of course, now, we don't have everything we should like to have. Father has explained it all. He says we must plan for traveling, because it should be a part of our education. And now, of course, we need good food, books, music, and comfortable clothes. Only we can't be fine!" She laughed and added, "Often we wish that we could have some of the other 'specials' that many girls enjoy, but we just can't afford it, if we are to continue to have the very best things."

This child already had an education lacked by the average person. For education should mean, among other things, the power to distinguish between the essential and the non-essential and to make wise choices. Certainly, Martha was happier and better prepared for anything that might befall her than she would have been if kept in ignorance of family resources.

As for the danger that children will betray family secrets, they are little more likely to do so than their elders—if, from the beginning, they feel that family affairs are their own affairs and that each of them has a part in the family plan.

And now here is a different angle. "But I'll tell you some other time," said one friend to another as her little daughter, Edith, came into the room.

So she did, and was wise to have waited, and would have been wiser still had those words in confidence never been uttered. There are some privacies that concern Mother and Father only.

"We just go ahead and say anything before our children," said another woman. "It's too much trouble to watch out for them, and they're used to it. They pay no attention."

But the same mother changed her mind after she heard her little Paul say to his sister, Elsie: "Uncle Jimmy is coming to see us, but you know Father could never in the world forgive him for not going to Aunt Della's wedding." One look into Elsie's surprised eyes had convinced the mother of her mistake.

"I knew Paul had heard this from me; it set me to thinking," she told me later. "I called a family council. This time the little ones were not invited. My husband, Grandma, and my two oldest, Will and Emily, were the only ones included. We decided that old grievances, complaints, vain regrets, gossip, unpleasant recollections and unkind references must go."

"We agreed that when one of us began a speech on any of these forbidden topics, some one else should excuse himself to the speaker and very casually begin talking of something pleasant.

"Oh, for a while, sometimes our talk was a bit artificial, but we really improved. Our conversation became much more agreeable, and the little children were no longer endangered."

Navajo Brave May Be Wed to Several Sisters

It is not unusual for a Navajo brave to be married to several sisters of the same family at the same time, according to Wick Miller, an authority on Indian arts and customs.

"That state of affairs is not objectionable to the Navajos," he said. "But they are extremely careful not to marry within their own clan. All in all, I would say their standards are higher than ours, and I believe they live up to their ideals, as a whole," better than white people. As the Navajos lead a wandering existence, their dwellings are temporary shelters. Wherever the Navajo is, he must be busy. Everybody has plenty to do. And everybody is happy.

Great Stone Blocks Are Island of Guam Mystery

The great blocks of stone which, by some unknown process, were hoisted in place to build the Egyptian pyramids have caused many to marvel, yet on the island of Guam there are stones larger than those used in the pyramids, evidently marking the burial place of an ancient native chief.

The huge stone blocks weigh approximately 2,500 pounds each, and when found one rested on the other. Both are of coral formation. The finding of many such burial places on Guam indicates that this island once had a big population. Little is known about its early inhabitants.

"My baking gets more bouquets—and I save, too!"

SAYS MRS. C. H. McINTOSH, 854 EASTWOOD AVENUE, CHICAGO, ILL.

Lowest Prices Ever on Calumet Baking Powder!

"It's certainly good news that Calumet is selling at new low prices," Mrs. McIntosh says. "I do a lot of baking, and when I can get a full pound can of reliable Calumet for only 25c, I'm pretty pleased with myself!"

Her son Jack settles down to some of Mother's famous coffee cake, and pays for it with a big smile.

AND LOOK AT THE NEW CAN! A simple twist...and the Easy-Opening Top lifts off. No delay, no spilling, no broken fingernails!

WHY IS CALUMET DIFFERENT from other baking powders? Why do you have to use only one level teaspoonful of Calumet to a cup of sifted flour in most recipes? Because Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick action for the mixing bowl—set free by liquid. A slower action for the oven—set free by heat.

New! Big 10¢ Can!...

Calumet, the Double-Acting Baking Powder, is now selling at the lowest prices ever...The new-size can is yours for a dime! And the regular price of the Full-Pound Can is only 25c! A product of General Foods.

The Model Prayer
Matthew 6: 9-15

9. After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven. Hallowed be thy name. 10. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. 11. Give us this day our daily bread. 12. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. 13. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen. 14. For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you: 15. But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

125,000 PEOPLE IN THE CHICAGO AREA ARE LIVING BETTER BECAUSE OF GAS HEAT...

Dirt and Drudgery

GONE FOREVER!

For only a few cents a day more, you can live better in your own home, free from furnace drudgery

NOT yet noon—and through for the day. No floors to scrub. No coal to shovel, no fires to watch. She's one of the thousands now enjoying the freedom of clean gas heat. For the first time in years she really knows the meaning of leisure. You're really living when you have gas heat.

This ideal method of heating is spotlessly clean. It eliminates all of the old time furnace dirt. Once your house is clean, it stays that way. No smudge to blacken curtains and drapes. No dust, no grime to work into rugs and furniture. No dirt to cause endless cleaning. Your time is your own, to do with as you want. But more than that, gas heat gives you a chance to leave your home without worry. Just set the thermostat, and the furnace takes care of itself. No anxious moments wondering if the heat is up. No constant fear that the fire will die. You know that every room in the house will be cozy and warm when you get back home.

Don't wait any longer to have gas heat. Make up your mind to enjoy the freedom and luxury it brings. If others can have it at the small additional cost, so can you. Call your nearest Public Service office. We will give you complete details and a free estimate of what it will cost you.

LATEST FASHIONS A LA COLBERT IN 'SHE MARRIED HER BOSS' OPENING AT PARTEHNON SATURDAY

Fashions worn by Claudette Colbert in "She Married Her Boss," the hilarious comedy romance opening at the Parthenon Saturday

The problems of a private secretary are briskly dealt with in Claudette Colbert's new Columbia picture, "She Married Her Boss," which opens at the Parthenon Theatre Saturday to the accompaniment of enthusiastic applause.

Produced by the same company that gave you Miss Colbert in "It Happened One Night", the new film has the same buoyancy and freshness that made its predecessor a five-way prize-winner. "She Married Her Boss" is undoubtedly the grandest fun since the falling of the walls of Jericho. Miss Colbert herself is delightful, as is her intern, whom and city have never been shown to better advantage. As a very efficient secretary who carelessly falls in love with her boss, she sees to it that he takes time off one day to buy her a wedding ring. That proves a costly mistake, for the maddest things one can imagine. The fun continues fast and furious, with Miss Colbert as the storm center. Melvyn Douglas does a fine job as the frantic boss, and Michael Bartlett, last seen in Grace Moore's "Love Me Forever," is thoroughly engaging as a devil-may-care chap who tries to manage the secretary's
