NUMBER 19.

NO ACTION TAKEN AT TUES. SESSION

At the special session of the village council Tuesday night the trustees devoted considerable time to discussing the audit of the books of the village as presented by James T. Wilkes, postponing any action on the audit until a supplemental audit of the sewage disposal plant books had been supplied.

A letter from the government informing the council that a grant of $17,571 had been allowed for the water works extension project was read. The allocation form stated that work on the new system had to be under way by December 15 if the grant was to be given.

With a site for the reservoir to be purchased and the engineer plans and specifications yet to be drawn and bids to be advertised for, the council found itself faced with a rush job, but it was believed that things could be ready on time.

Attorney Lewis told the dads that the Hammond water board was making a new contract with some of the changes asked by the Lansing board being incorporated. The request of the local board for a ninety day billing was refused, Hammond insisting upon monthly payment of the water bill. Other minor engineering problems were to be ironed out by the engineers of the two boards.

Due to another meeting, the men from the Public Service could not be present so the consultation on more street lights had to be postponed.

BRICKMAKERS VOTE WORK TO U. S. CITIZENS

It was reported that a heated discussion regarding work rights held the attention of the Brickmakers at their regular meeting Wednesday night. According to information given to this paper strenuous objections were raised against the brick yards employing non-citizens of this country when there were natural born citizens on the unemployment roll and in good standing in the union.

Recent employment of the Hoogveen brothers at the Maynard yards was the crux of the argument. It appeared that these men had declined citizenship papers on different occasions, retaining their citizenship in Holland, and the brickworkers were of the opinion that the local work should go to citizens first.

The argument resulted in the passing of a motion that no men were to be employed in local yards unless they were U. S. citizens.

VILLAGE PRESIDENT SEES HUSKING CONTEST

Mr. John Schuringa and Mr. Gerald Vermeulen of School street were among the 100,000 spectators at the National Corn husking contest on Mitchell farm in Newton, Ind., Friday, November 8. The men reported that the crowd was so immense that they could hardly get a full view of the corn huskers at any time. When the gun fired the finals, it looked as if the Indiana man Lawrence Pitzner would be champion, when the corn was weighed it was found that Elmer Carlsen of Iowa was the champion, having husked 41.52 bushels in 80 minutes. The weather was ideal for the contest and the Newton territory looked like a state fair.

LEGION DINNER MOST SUCCESSFUL

Rain don't deter modern folks when they are hungry for a chicken dinner such as is served by the American Legion and Auxiliary of the Edward Schultz Post. This point was proven when 200 folks came out to St. John's school hall for their dinner, in Monday evening's downpour.

From all angles the affair was most successful, and every one enjoyed the well cooked food.

Old man humor got in a hand when two guests appeared after the food supply had been exhausted, and it was discovered that they were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Frey of Calumet City, from whom the ladies had purchased the 52 chickens for the dinner. But we are informed that the serving committee was resourceful and the late diners were not turned away hungry, although their menu differed from the scheduled fare.

CARELESS DRIVER RAMS PALKO CAR

Returning from a week end trip into Wisconsin, Mrs. Mary Palko of Ann street had the misfortune of having her car badly damaged when she was run into by another machine in Oshkosh, Wis.

According to Mrs. Palko, she had stopped for a through street when the other car run into the side of her machine. She estimated the damage at about fifty dollars. The driver of the offending machine carried no insurance and was indifferent as to the damage he had done. Mrs. Palko did not instigate legal action to recover the damage, feeling it was far from home to attend court hearings.

JOHN ROTTIER WEDS KALAMAZOO GIRL

John Rottier, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Rottier of Wentworth avenue surprised his family this week by bringing home a bride, the former Eleanor Poolstra of Kalamazoo. The young couple were married quietly in South Bend Wednesday afternoon, coming on to Lansing directly after the ceremony. Their engagement had been announced some time ago but the two families did not expect the marriage until spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Rottier will stay at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Poolstra, of Kalamazoo until Christmas, after which they plan a honeymoon trip to Florida. They will make their home in Kalamazoo after this trip.

BIG DOINGS FOR P T A CARNIVAL

Lansing folks are sure scheduled for a good time at the PTA carnival that is to be held Friday evening, November 22, in the Coolidge gym if all plans of that organization go through as arranged.

A new idea is being inaugurated this year whereby the gym is to be open to the public with all the merchants booths, the refreshments stands and other form of entertainment all in the one big room, while the shows are to be held in the various class rooms.

More things are on the program than in previous years and the cost of every thing with the exception of the minstrel show and the fortune telling booth only a nickel, which will be welcome news to a lot of folks.

The gym is to be decorated with the school colors, purple and gold, and the people working will wear some token in these colors. There will be hats and horns and all that makes for real carnival fun.

All of the leading merchants and business houses of the town are to have display booths, a feature that will provide a wealth of information about the community and also souvenirs of the occasion.

Everyone in town is urged to come out and enjoy themselves and help make the affair a real community jamboree.

MORE THAN 1,000 THRIFT INSTITUTIONS NOW INSURED

Home-financing institutions of the savings and loan type throughout the country to the number of 1,010 have now been approved for insurance of shareholders' accounts through the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation. Individual investors thus protected against loss up to $5,000 each total $68,838, compared with 171,000 investors safeguarded in the 451 institutions which had been insured up to January 1, 1935. The first institution was insured in October of last year, under the act of 1934 creating the insurance corporation.

The 1,010 insured associations represent aggregate assets of $587,000. They include 547 newly organized Federal savings and loan associations, 375 old-established associations that have been converted to Federal charter, and 88 state-chartered building and loan associations, cooperative banks and home-stead associations.

Applications for insurance from some 280 other thrift and home-financing institutions, with assets of approximately $385,000,000, are now pending with Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation.

It is estimated that about 98.2 percent of all the insured shareholders are actually protected up to the full amount of their investments although $5,000 is the maximum of protection to shareholders in insured institutions.

Eleven Highway Deaths Here In Past Two Years

YOUNG PEOPLE DO WELL WITH PLAY

"Where's Grandma," the three act comedy presented last Thursday and Friday by the Young People's Society of St. John's church proved pleasant entertainment and attracted a full house both nights.

Included in the cast were Rahel Streufert, Marian Frank, Arthur Diekelmann, Franklin Hollis, Martha Poppe, Gertrude Streufert, Esther Lange, Edwin Schuldt, and Marjorie Krumm, with the Lansing male quartet, Lester Eenigenberg, Harold Keesen, Anthony De Vries and Frank Rottier, providing between act entertainment.

YOUNG PEOPLE ATTEND RALLY

Fourteen members of the Walther League of St. John's Church attended a district rally at Matteson, Ill., last Sunday evening. The rally was called chiefly for the purpose of organizing a new Walther League zone for northern Illinois. This new zone is to be known as the South Suburban Zone. Officers were elected.

A supper and some delightful entertainment was provided by the entertaining league. Those attending from Lansing were Amanda and Reinholdt Schultz, Milton Schultz, Adele Mueller, William, Carl and Reinhardt Hecht, Edwin Schuldt, Arthur Diekelmann, Donald Diekelmann, Louis Labahn, Rahel Streufert, Erwin Mueller and Helen Fritchle of Dolton.

CELEBRATE 4TH ANNIVERSARY

Accomplishment, something real and tangible to show for the effort expended is one of the most satisfactory things of life and something worth celebrating. That is why Theodore Hoekstra is offering his customers such worthwhile specials this week end by way of celebrating his fourth year in business here.

He is giving away many samples and souvenirs to commemorate the occasion, which we believe is a real event in the history of the town.

Starting his grocery store in the very teeth of the depression, Mr. Hoekstra by constantly offering service and value, has built one of the best businesses of its kind in the entire community. Working at first with only his son Harold as help, he is now employing twelve persons including himself, and that coming out of the past four years is a real accomplishment.

During this anniversary celebration the regular Hoekstra staff, personnel of which is: Mr. Hoekstra, Harold Hoekstra, Mary Bell, Don Vander Wiede, Alvin Kooy, Robert Hoekstra, Conrad Hoekstra, Ethel Eenigenberg, Ray Velcamp, Bud Meeter, Tony Hoekstra and Betty Schmall will all be on hand with their usual pleasant smiles and courteous service.

MOTOR VEHICLE DEATH TOLL HIGH

ALCOHOL MAY BE BLAMED FOR 55% OF THESE TRAGEDIES

Local police records drip with the blood of motor vehicle accident victims, according to a survey covering the past two years. Many of these victims are crippled and maimed for life, and eleven met death, some in its most gruesome form.

Six of the deaths were reported as the result of accidents caused by drinking, two by hit and run drivers and the others laid to various causes. Each year the toll has mounted.

Readers of the Journal will recall the details of the accidents that claimed the lives of the following persons. In bringing to mind these terrible tragedies we hope to aid in the nationwide drive for safety on the highways, and at the same time to impress upon the minds of all drivers the enormous death toll over the country, when Lansing alone reports so great a casualty list.

Deaths

Mae Davis met death in an accident reported as resulting from drink, on September 30, 1933. The car in which she was riding was ditched on Wentworth avenue.

Henry Fluscher, intoxicated, walked in front of an automobile at the intersection of Indiana avenue and Torrence avenue, October 17, 1933.

Anthony Matthew, killed by a hit and run driver on Torrence avenue April 6, 1934.

Edward Pelz, killed September 9, 1934 when thrown from the car driven by his sister, on Stony Island avenue, when she was blinded by the lights of an on-coming machine. Accident laid to improper lights.

George Henderson, killed November 6, 1934 in a motorcycle crash, cause of which was never officially declared.

Clarence Terre, killed November 12, 1934, when the machine in which he was riding ran into a truck parked on Torrence avenue without lights. Wrong parking blamed for the accident.

Victor Adamski, killed November 30, 1934 by a hit and run driver while walking along Wentworth avenue.

William G. Davis died in a motor crash at Ridge Road and Burnham avenue, April 15, 1935. Cause of the accident reported as drinking.

Virginia Brown, 17 year old girl, and her uncle William Kirsch, both killed on Torrence avenue June 29, 1935 after what is believed to be a night of drinking. Virginia was burned to death in the wrecked automobile.

Herman F Adler, killed November 1, 1935 at 3 a. m. on Torrence avenue. Drinking was indicated as cause of the accident in which six other persons were injured and F Adler killed.

Two colored women were killed just south of the village on Torrence avenue about two years ago, accident caused by skidding on wet pavement. There are no police records of this accident as it happened just outside of the village.

Josephine Stein, died by drowning June 21, 1935 after a drinking party and automobile ride.

Camels Perform Philatelic Stunt

Philatelists especially were interested in the stunt performed by these two circus camels the other day. They carried the mail from Fort Tejon to Los Angeles, Calif., as did the camels of Gen. Edward Beale in the 1850's, the trip being a feature of philatelic week. The letters carried special souvenir stamps or labels and cachets. At Los Angeles they were transferred to trains and planes. The photograph shows the camels getting their loads.

First Indian Constitution Given

Smashing traditions of ignoring Indian tribal government, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes signed and presented to delegates of the confederated tribes of the Flathead Indian reservation in Montana the first constitution and by-laws to be issued under the Indian Reorganization act. The unprecedented document was ratified by the Indians at a popular referendum and is the first such constitution to be approved by the government in the history of the United States. VALUE

The following quotation from the pen of William Randolph Hearst, came to our attention recently and we are reprinting it because it seems especially appropriate now, as does the reminding our readers of the frequently published policy of this paper.

"I do not think that any position is more honorable to the holder or more important to the community than the position of editor of an independent newspaper, honestly and conscientiously performing his every obligation to them.

"I think a free press is the greatest liberalizing institution in America, and a completely free and independent editorship is as high a position as a man can hold as long as this country remains a self-governing republic."

This statement was made by Mr. Hearst as part of his reply to a question addressed to him by Julian Harris of the Chatanooga Times.

The Journal has always maintained its independence of any political alliance. It was established with the idea of serving the community, and the editors rested their claim of a livelihood upon the theory that honest service is adequately rewarded, and to date we have no complaint to make and no reason to believe that our theory is not correct.

All expression of editorial opinion in the columns of this paper have been with the idea of furthering what we considered to be the best interest of the community at large, and entirely without personal prejudice of any kind.

If we have seemed to urge unduly any particular thing it was because we felt the need of pushing that particular thing, and not in any spirit of fault finding.

It is the object of this paper to help make Lansing a better place in which to live, to promote the happiness of community life and increase its opportunity.

The years bring many changes, and the experiences of those years if accurately recorded and kept of times prove to be invaluable. The community newspaper, ethically conducted provides the only source of authentic information relative to past events.

It is gratifying to find an acknowledgement of this fact expressed by those who have reached the pinnacle of success and can speak from actual knowledge and without petty prejudice.

FACE THE GORY FACTS

Few journalistic achievements of recent years have caused such a furor as the publication, by Readers' Digest, of J. C. Furnas' article, "—And Sudden Death."

This article, which describes the horror of automobile accidents in the most realistic and even nauseous terms, has been reprinted, in whole or in part, in a long list of newspapers and magazines throughout the country. It has become the basis for speeches by safety and law enforcement authorities. One Canadian province distributes copies of it to drivers, and a New York judge has started the practice of reading it to traffic violators appearing in his court.

Most important of all, perhaps, the article may have established a journalistic precedent. One of the country's large dailies recently announced that henceforth it would apply the "—And Sudden Death" method in reporting major traffic accidents. The descriptions will no longer be confined to medical terms and softened phrases. They will include factual word pictures of smashed skulls, of compound fractures, of spurting arteries, of crushed chests—of all the horrors that are part and parcel of the accidents which claim 35,000 lives a year in this country.

Newspapers large and small could well follow that example. The driver who reads simply that John Smith was killed when trying to make a corner at high speed often passes the news by with a minimum of thought. If he read, instead, that it was necessary to scrape John Smith's body from his smashed car, and that recognition was made possible only by examination of his dental work, he'd remember it.

It's time we faced the gory facts—time we all realized that the scene of an automobile accident can be as horrible as a battlefield. And it's time we remembered that automobiles have killed many more Americans than have all the wars of our history.

A NEW BRAND OF "LIBERTY"

Two minstrels who drew from their guitars music about "the downfall of the Soviet Union" and "the end of the world" as they wandered among collective farms in the Kiev district were sentenced to death in the Kiev regional court as counter-revolutionaries.

Twenty-two others received prison terms of three to ten years.

And this is what liberty and freedom amount to in Russia!

God save this country from the agitation and propaganda that would destroy our own constitution, limit freedom of speech and press and establish a brand of "liberty" when life, death and property are subject to the whims of a political distastorship.

EDITORIAL NOTES

President Roosevelt faces a nip and tuck battle for re-election with odds at present against him, according to a poll conducted through nearly 7,000 newspapers by the American Press association.

The president is leading in the popular vote cast so far as a straight Roosevelt vs. republican ballot is concerned, chiefly through heavy majorities polled for him in democratic solid south states.

When it comes to electoral votes—which constitute the final verdict he is 40 votes behind the republican field of unnamed candidates in states the ballots have shown a definite leaning one way or another.

EXTRA EXTRA

Nice Things

The nicest thing that has happened to us for a long time was having an "Editor" of some thirty-five years standing, who produces a newspaper that has held the respect of his community all that time tell us that he liked and approved of this derved column.

Reverie and Inquiry

While we were wondering about this thing last week we bethought ourselves of the new allocations of funds being made by the government under the spell of the WPA (new crop of letters guaranteed for next year if you vote for them) for the T. F. high school board the eventual sum of $43,000 (according to rumor) for the purpose of landscaping the grounds of the new building. O. K. We slipped up behind one in the know on the thing and asked him real quick how much "Boondoggling" they were supposed to do and were informed that they really were going to plant trees, bushes, etc. Amen! But what a lot of trees and bushes they ought to get. Then there is the new village project for lead service on the water mains. A most fervent Amen! Then wondering lastly if the papas (more apologies to Amos and Andy) can accept their water grant since there seems to be some question as to whether they voted an approval of the exact letter (which one is unknown we think) that finally brought through the grant.

News and Views

In the state of California, they put a heavy tax on millionaires. Mr. Hearst, the publisher, protested so loudly that the governor of Florida heard him. So sympathetic was the governor that he invited Mr. California and invest his millions in Florida real estate. Big, big Hearst to dispose of his property in hearted governor.

Do you remember way back when Dick Broertjes was the first auto salesman around these parts. When he called on prospective buyers he either rode a bicycle or walked. The first car he sold was to John Schuringa, the present mayor of Lansing.

Now we read that some countries bar the sounding of an auto horn altogether, and explain that the motorist use his head instead of the horn. That is how we feel about it, but think of our young men. This would cause them to have to go to the door and knock, then escort the young lady to the car instead of just simply honking and blaring with an auto horn for five minutes or so.

Do you remember not so long ago that when a school teacher lost a position they would almost weep? Now some are quitting for better positions in the middle of a contract. No wonder someone called the board of education the school "bord."

Said one of our Lansing barbers, "They say times are better but I can't see it."

Tut, tut barbers three years ago you were glad to get two-bits for a hair cut and now you get six bits for snipping pieces off our ears and sticking a soap brush in our mouth. If that isn't recovery, what is?

We saw several reprints of the cartoon picturing bombers, poison gas, long range guns, tanks, battle cruisers, and torpedoes with these words added: "Civilization advances."

Do you remember way back when John Nimitz, on east Ridge Road, had the first auto in these parts? I was one of the kids who ran and caught up with it after it had a two mile start on its trial run, and then helped to push it back to his home.

It kind of gets on my nerves to hear a man get up in public and say that the people who are in want were not the cause of the depression, but victims of it under our capitalistic system. Then begin lambasting Pres. Roosevelt for trying to give economic security to these same victims he cries about.

Parting Shot

EROSION CONTROL PART OF ILLINOIS PROJECT

Four hundred and twenty-five relief workers are employed on the five soil erosion projects in Illinois according to a report made today (Thursday) by R. A. Fisher, regional director of the soil conservation service.

The report was presented at a meeting of all emergency heads in the state at Chicago, which was called for today by Sveinbjorn Johnson director of the National Emergency Council for Illinois. Fourteen emergency council directors from as many surrounding states were present for the meeting.

The projects and the number employed on each are as follows: Freeport, 96; Bloomington, 133; Edwardsville, 100; Golconda, 51; Havana, 45.

The first of the relief workers were employed September 2 and by September 15, 139 were at work; September 30, 378 and October 15, 425.

Thirty two CCC camps have been assigned to Illinois to do soil erosion work, the report states, and to date these camps have cooperated with approximately 3500 farms, consisting of 455,000 acres. They have built 500 miles of terraces, constructed 120,000 temporary gully structures and 900 permanent gully structures. Two thousand acres of eroding banks have been seeded and sodded and trees have been planted on 15,600 acres throughout the state.

The erosion control program is of a demonstration nature the report states, and is designed to show Illinois farmers the seriousness of the soil erosion problem.

1935 SOUTH SUBURBAN CHAMPIONS

T. F. METEOR
Written by students of Thornton Fractional Twp. High School

FRACTIONAL WINS S. S. LEAGUE TITLE

Thornton Fractional's Meteors are the undisputed champions of the South Suburban league. Last Friday night, at the Hammond High field, they defeated Bloom High 19 to 0, removing the last obstacle in their path for the crown.

The opening of the first quarter found the Meteors with their backs to the wall and holding the enemy at bay. Bloom's long-distance punting was offsetting Fractional's gains from scrimmage.

In the second quarter, however, the T. F. boys came to life, and scored the six points which clinched the title. After that it was little more than a breeze for the home boys.

Nowak, Grigonis, and Biel scored touchdowns for the winners, and Coyle kicked the only extra point of the game.

THORNTON F. DISTRIBUTE THANKSGIVING BASKETS

Committees from both the Girls and Boys Club of Thornton Fractional have been put in charge of preparing and handling of Thanksgiving baskets this year. The committee from the Girl's Club is: Lewandowski, Genevieve Jablonski, Edna Van Pelt, and Janet Potusky. Thomas Nondorf, the Boys' Club president, has not yet picked his committee.

The clubs distributed thirty-eight baskets last year to poor families on Thanksgiving Day. This practice has been in effect ever since Mrs. Long, a former faculty member of this school, became Dean of girls.

THORNTONIAN STAFF LOSES A CO-EDITOR

Due to the illness of Dorothy Mayer, co-editor of the Thorntonian Violet Anderson has been promoted to the office of assistant editor of the school paper. Ruth Sibley is now in charge of student contributions to the Hammond times, Lansing Journal, and Calumet City News.

Dorothy will resume her work when the new Thornton Fractional High school is opened.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS WORK AT CLINIC

A number of T. F. girls gave their services to the health clinic last Friday. Once in the clinic they were requested to wash their hands and then they were bedecked in huge white aprons. They made cotton balls for dressings which are to be used in vaccinating. The girls that participated in this work are: Louise Hayes, Naomi Esser, Mary Margaret Keller, Arlene Mullory, Nancy Calzaretta, Arlene Knot, Audrey Smith, Beverly Millies, Dorothy Deakun, Jesse Mae Taylor, Virginia Taitz, Eileen Horst, Mildred Cohen, and Helen Brown.

The commercial classes are also busy. They are typing the envelopes in which the Christmas seals are to be sent out this year.

CARNIVAL TO BE HELD IN NEW T. F. BUILDING

Much excitement has been aroused with the coming of the greatest event in the school calendar—the 1936 Carnival.

The carnival, which is a revival of an annual event, will be even greater than those of the past, and will take place in the magnificent new T. F. building. A whirl of attractions such as swimming exhibitions, side shows, dancing, refreshments in the cafeteria will provide every one a whole evening of enjoyment.

Rehearsals will begin immediately after the Christmas holidays.

All stage work is to be under the direction of Miss Mary McGraw.

Because of the renewal of the carnival, there will be no junior play this year.

GOOD THOUGHTS

"The heavens declare the glory" of the Lord;

The daystar springs on high at Love's command;

No failure mars the rightness of this plan.

The night and day proclaim a God at hand.

Serenely trust the omnipresent Mind,

Who bears us on our way on upward wing.

Whose thought has shaped a universe of light.

Each adverse purpose quenched by heavenly might.

—Myrtle Ella Robertson.

Do not think that what is hard for thee to master, is impossible for man; but if a thing is possible and proper to man, deem it attainable by thee. —Marcus Aurelius.

There is no better way to show our trust in God than to busy ourselves with the thing He asks us to do. —Maltbie Babcock.

Whoever is truly humble, that is to say, spiritually dependent, will never doubt his God-given ability to demonstrate spiritual perfection in spite of recurring suggestions of fear and failure. The temptation to doubt the practical availability of spiritual power in every situation is therefore to be dismissed as a superstition. We can declare with confidence and good results. "God is my strength and power; and he maketh me perfect."

—Christian Science Sentinel.

Fear thou not; for I am with thee; be not dismayed; for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness. —Isaiah 41.

Read This, Mr. Auto Driver

A few weeks ago readers of an important New York daily received a gruesome surprise. In an account of a serious automobile accident, the paper no longer confined itself to a bare and colorless statement of facts. Instead, it presented all the gruesome details, chronicling the mashed oozing skulls, and compound bone fractures, the bleeding wounds of the victims. And it announced that it would continue this policy in the belief that it would help bring public realization of the horror of the automobile accidents, and assist in creating real public co-operation in making our streets and highways safer.

This is partly the result of the famed

Readers' Digest Article, "—And Sudden Death," by J. C. Furnas, which has received national attention. Mr. Furnas pointed out that an effective picture of motor accidents "would have to include motion picture and sound effects too,—the flopping, pointless efforts of the injured to stand up; the queer grunting noises; the steady, panting groaning of a human being with pain creeping upon him as the shock wears off. It would portray the slack expression on the face of a man, drugged with shock, staring at the Z-twist in his broken leg, the insane crumpled effect of a child's body after its bones are crushed inward, a realistic portrait of an hysterical woman with her screaming mouth opening a hole in the bloody drip that fills her eyes and runs off her chin. Minor details would include the raw ends of bones protruding through flesh in compound fractures, and the dark red, oozing surfaces where clothes and skin are flayed off at once."

Horrible—nauseating—disgusting? Yes—but these details are not one iota too much so. They are part and parcel of thousands of accidents each year. Somewhere at this moment, the gruesome scene is being enacted again. The New York newspaper, which is to give a true picture of major automobile crashes, has set an example that should be emulated throughout the country.

NATURE STORY

The fig tree from his native Italy which Frank Ardizzone of Moberly, Mo., tended 41 years is dead. Dead also are the parsley bed, the grapevines and shrubs he allowed no one else to tend. Neighbors reported they withered after Ardizzone died on the eve of his seventy-fourth birthday. Every effort to revive them failed, although the surrounding garden flourished.

Don't Guess But Know

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this—and see that you get what you want.

"YOU NEVER KNOW WHEN" SO... CARRY... TUMS

PEOPLE everywhere are surprising their friends by eating foods they have long avoided by carrying a roll of Tums right in their pocket. Millions have learned this quick, safe way to eliminate heartburn, sour stomach, gas, acid indigestion in this pleasant way. TUMS represent a real scientific advancement. They contain no harsh alkalies. Instead a remarkable antacid that never does more than neutralize stomach acid. No danger of over-alkalizing the stomach or blood. The custom of carrying a roll of TUMS in your pocket will save many a day for you. They're so economical—only 10c a roll—ask any druggist.

Your Best Flare Forward in Simple, All-Occasion Frock

PATTERN 2397

There's many a "flare" in the fashion sky this fall, and no smart skirt will dare sally forth without at least one. This charming all-occasion frock has flares both back and front, thus assuring its wearer plenty of style interest. The drop-shoulder yoke points twice in front, once in back, to the bodice and puffed sleeves which gather round it. Utterly charming, the tiny round collar which tops the yoke's diagonal closing, and don't you love the young way the sleeves puff about the elbow? There are novelty crepes with plenty of surface interest from which to choose—or if you're out to be very practical, select a sheer wool.

Pattern 2397 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 3 3/4 yards 39 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Address orders to the Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 243 West Seventh Street, New York City.

How to Vary Meat Dishes

Few Hints for Housewife Who Must Consider Time Involved.

The question of variation of the meat dish always puzzles the busy housewife who must choose her meals in reference to the time involved in the preparation. She naturally depends on steaks and chops and ham, all of which can be broiled or panbroiled in a short time. These are among the more expensive meats and for this reason she varies them with the well-known hamburger steak, which may be very good or very poor, depending upon the way it is seasoned and cooked. Nothing is more unappetizing than dry, poorly seasoned cakes of steaks. However, there are many ways in which it may be prepared so that the family will enjoy it rather than eat it with resignation.

I wonder if you have ever prepared meat balls in the Swedish fashion, which is not only unusually good but which is also very economical. Another recipe in which I like to use chopped meat is known as baked hamburger. The meat is well seasoned with onion, a bit of catsup if you like, as well as the usual salt and pepper. It is made into large flat cakes, and, as the old-fashioned recipe says, "made white with salt, yellow with mustard and black with pepper." A few onions may be sliced on the top before it is put in a hot oven and baked for 15 or 20 minutes.

Quick Meal.

- Chilled melon
- Swedish meat balls
- Boiled potatoes Peas in butter
- Watercress and tomato salad
- Crackers Cheese Jelly
- Coffee

Method of Preparation.

- Boil water for potatoes and cook
- Prepare meat and bake

Baked Hamburg Steak.

- 1 1/2 pounds hamburger
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- Pepper
- Dry mustard
- Season hamburger with salt and pepper and form into a flat cake. Place into well-greased baking pan, making white with salt, yellow with mustard and black with pepper. Put in a hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit), and bake 15 to 20 minute until brown.

Swedish Meat Balls.

- 2 cups soft bread crumbs
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1 onion
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 egg
- 1/4 cup rich milk or cream
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- Soak bread in milk 10 minutes. Mince onion and fry lightly in two tablespoons of butter and add to bread. Add meat, seasonings and egg to bread mixture. Put through the meat grinder. Form into small round balls and fry in remaining two tablespoons of butter until light brown on all sides. Sprinkle each ball with flour, cover and cook five minutes more. Add milk and cook for five minutes more. Add more salt and pepper if necessary.

French Dressing.

- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon mustard
- Paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 6 tablespoons salad oil
- 1/2 teaspoon onion juice
- 2 tablespoons vinegar

Mix the dry ingredients and add to the oil. Add the onion juice and vinegar and stir until it thickens. A small piece of ice added before stirring hastens the process.

Quick, Complete Pleasant ELIMINATION

Let's be frank. There's only one way for your body to rid itself of the waste matters that cause acidity, gas, headaches, bloated feelings and a dozen other discomforts—your intestines must function.

To make them move quickly, pleasantly, completely, without griping. Thousands of physicians recommend Milnesia Wafers. (Dentists recommend Milnesia wafers as an efficient remedy for mouth acidity).

These mint flavored candy-like wafers are pure milk of magnesia. Each wafer is approximately equal to a full adult dose of liquid milk of magnesia. Chewed thoroughly in accordance with the directions on the bottle or tin, then swallowed, they correct acidity, bad breath, flatulence, at their source and at the same time enable quick, complete, pleasant elimination.

Milnesia Wafers come in bottles of 20 and 48 wafers, at 35c and 60c respectively, or in convenient tins containing 12 at 20c. Each wafer is approximately an adult dose of milk of magnesia. All good drug stores carry them. Start using these delicious, effective wafers today.

Professional samples sent free to registered physicians or dentists if request is made on professional letter head.

MOVIES IN DARK AFRICA

The movies have penetrated far into the heart of West Africa, the natives having a passion for films of super-fervid melodrama, wild west exploits, murder, pillage and arson. Attempts have been made to infuse an element of moral uplift into their intellectual bill of fare; and their conception of white humanity, but these efforts have met with a marked lack of appreciation.

I'M SOLD

It always works

Just do what hospitals do, and the doctors insist on. Use a good liquid laxative, and aid Nature to restore clocklike regularity without strain or ill effect.

A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the real secret of relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has become. It gives the right kind of help, and right amount of help. Taking a little less each time, gives the bowels a chance to act of their own accord, until they are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit. The action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve any sluggishness or bilious condition due to constipation without upset.

MOVIE AND RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE

SHED a few tears for Mickey Mouse; the poor little thing can't take out life insurance. He was turned down by the famous Lloyd's of London the other day—and Lloyd's will take a chance on anything or anybody. Walt Disney, who created Mickey, wanted to insure him for one million pounds (which comes so near being five million dollars that it isn't worth while to compute the difference), but Lloyd's came right back with the declaration that Mickey is immortal.

Disney.

A lot of theatrical producers in New York are going to be awfully glad when Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone take a train, plane or bus for Hollywood. The newly-wed Tones have been disrupting performances just by being in the door. More mobs escort them into the theater. Everybody in the audience wants to take a look at them, or ask for autographs. On one occasion the show couldn't go on till the movie stars rose and took a bow. Some day maybe a movie star will be killed by the crush of enthusiastic fans—then he'll really know how much his public loves him.

Don't miss "Metropolitan" when it comes to your town. RKO has really brought opera to the screen in this one, with Lawrence Tibbett singing some of his favorite songs magnificently, after a four-year absence from the screen. It was shown at the Radio City Music Hall in New York, and celebrities turned out in droves for the first performance. Of course, most of them have the habit of going to the Music Hall regularly anyway, and as for visitors from out of town, it heads their lists of places they must see.

Something seems to have happened to the Hollywood girls. Miriam Hopkins started everybody by asking to co-star with Terle Ahern, and then Irene Dunne came along and said she'd like to work with Ann Harding in "The Old Maid."

Leslie Howard and Helen Hayes won't have audiences in the studio when they broadcast, which seems like an excellent idea. It's exasperating to listen to a favorite program and realize that the people watching are being highly amused and entertained by things that can't be enjoyed at a distance till television becomes more general.

If you want to land a place on one of the amateur programs, you'll be lucky if you're not a singer. Too many singers are appearing; Fred Allen has sent out a call for comedians. And if you're an impersonator you're practically sure of landing at the top when the votes roll in.

Carol Lombard has long wanted to be a comedienne, and after Claudette Colbert's success in "It Happened One Night" she gave the studio no peace until she got a comedy role—"Hands Across the Table" gives it to her, and she hopes you'll like it.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., now living in England, hopes his American friends won't misunderstand his staying there. He felt that he'd never get anywhere in Hollywood, and that his only chance was to produce his own pictures in England, where he could select his own stories. He says he couldn't do that in this country; it would cost too much. He's working now in his first one, "The Amateur Gentleman," with Elissa Landi as leading lady. And the whippers have it she's to be his next Mrs.

If you lived in Hollywood you'd have to make some changes in your address book right now. Marlene Dietrich has moved into Richard Barthelmess' house, a grand Bing Crosby, having sold his home to Al Jolson, has rented Marion Davies' Beverly Hills abode. Incidentally, Miss Dietrich has taken to nibbling tuberoses on the set—and people thought Lillian Gish was exotic, years ago, when she munched carrots right in court!

Dietrich.

Fredric March and his wife have just returned from that vacation in England; they took a motor trip, and finished reading "Anthony Adverse," which will be March's next picture.

Massive Barrier Has Isolated Ethiopian People for Centuries

Ethiopia's terrain is described vividly by Leo B. Roberts in an article in a recent issue of National Geographic Magazine. He also tells of the people and their customs.

"West of Eritrea and French Somaliland there is an Ethiopian desert belt 100 miles wide; its lava formations resemble Arizona malpais country at its worst," writes Mr. Roberts. "The dry season strikes here with terrific force; water holes are far apart.

"In north and central Ethiopia are five Christian provinces: Tigre, Amhara, Goffam, Wallo, and Shoa; to the southwest is Kafa, the home of coffee which took its name therefrom; farther south and east are smaller provinces conquered by Emperor Menelik II.

Isolated for Centuries.
"West of the desert is one of the world's most striking topographical features—an escarpment rising a mile or more above the arid lowlands. This massive barrier has isolated Ethiopian mountain dwellers from the outside world for centuries. "These highlands extend west from the eastern escarpment some 200 miles, to an equally steep slope on the west. Much of the area between the western escarpment and the Sudan border is unmappped, but it is known that this lowland is densely forested and the soil is the black, greasy, gumbo type. In the east and west lowlands, heat is terrific; on the highlands, which vary from 8,000 to nearly 15,000 feet above the Red sea, it is generally cold.

"Highland Ethiopians are essentially an agricultural people. Teff, one of the dwarf varieties of millet, is the principal crop. Some maize is cultivated, as well as barley and chick peas. Pepper is grown extensively and used daily on meat and bread. Cattle are large, and thousands of sheep graze on the hills.

"Two distinct seasons exist—a heavy rainy season lasting from June until the end of September, and a dry season for the remaining eight months.

"Village life is placid. The people are content with few possessions. Men spend much of the day in the fields and yet have plenty of time for gossip. Women are modest; they work steadily, yet not too hard. Time means nothing here. The 'shai naha' ('yes, soon') of Ethiopia is even more common than the 'mañana' of Mexico.

"No newspapers are known, but all news is broadcast at the markets, each village having its weekly market day.

Use Salt Bars for Money.
"In the vicinity of Addis Ababa, coins and the paper money issued by the Bank of Ethiopia are used as mediums of exchange. In the interior, however, salt bars, which have a trade value of about half a Maria Theresa thaler, are a more desirable currency than silver coins.

"Southern Ethiopia is reported to have lions. Many types of antelopes are to be found in the high Aruse country and ibex in the mountains of northern Tigre; but in Shoa and Goffam game is scarce. There are a few gazelles; and hyenas laugh in the night, but hide during the day. Baboons and little monkeys are plentiful and respond quickly to decent treatment. In the lagoonlike reaches of the Blue Nile, as well as in the lake proper, there are herds of hippopotami. I saw as many as fifteen at one time enjoying the water.

"Forests along the Sudan frontier shelter elephants, lions, and leopards.

"By far the most important factor in the life of the people of Ethiopia's highland country is their church. There is a church on almost every hill, and on every eighth piece of land. It has been estimated that at the present time there are between fifteen and eighteen thousand recognized churches in the empire.

"Churches are built in groves of trees and are circular, with successive round enclosures where all ranks (the people, the deacons, and the priests) have definite stations. Location of doors is prescribed by custom; there being no windows, the interiors are gloomy. Entrances for the priests is on the east, for the men on the north; doors for women open to the south.

"Priests may marry once, engage in business, administer church-owned land, lend money, and act as judges in disputes. They daily hold services of prayer and chanting, and their fasts are long and severe."

Thrice the Slaves in World as Century Ago

The world may be improving in some ways but in regards to human bondage it is growing steadily worse, according to figures gathered by Lady Simon, wife of Britain's foreign minister. There are three times as many slaves in the world today she says, as there was 100 years ago (not counting those in the United States).

Slave trading is carried on openly in most of the larger cities of Arabia and a slave market adjoins the Great Mosque of Mecca. Oddly enough, Liberia, which at one time was a refuge for escaped and liberated slaves of the United States, has nearly 800,000 slaves numbered among its 2,500,000 population. Slavery still exists in many parts of Ethiopia, many parts of China and northern Africa.

Stamp Act Congress

The Stamp Act Congress was a meeting of delegates from the colonies at the city hall in New York in October, 1765. Petitions were addressed to the king of England and to parliament protesting against the documentary tax laid on the colonies. A declaration of the rights of Americans was drawn up, stating, among other things, that internal taxes could not be laid on the colonies without their own consent.

New Device Will Save Babes From Idiocy

Drains Skull of Fluid Pressing on Brain.

Boston.—Salvation for babies hitherto hopelessly doomed to idiocy and ultimate early death because of hydrocephalus is the latest contribution to surgical science of Dr. Tracy J. Putnam, member of the department of surgery and neurology at Harvard Medical school, and child brain specialist at Boston Children hospital.

Hydrocephalus is a condition found in some infants whereby spinal fluid generated by tissues on the underside of the brain fail to drain properly and thus "back up" in the skull, causing it to swell. This swelling then produces pressure on the thinking part of the brain and destroys the brain tissue in this area, causing idiocy. Normally, the fluid generally is drained through the spinal column and absorbed by the blood.

Doctor Putnam designed an instrument which bores under the brain to the base of the skull and burns out all but a small amount of the tissue which generates the fluid.

He calls his brain-boring device a "coagulating ventriculoscope." It consists of a thin glass tube with a polished tip containing a tiny electric light and two tiny wire electric current terminals, or electrodes, similar to the lower bar of an automobile spark plug.

The tube containing the tiny electric light and the delicate electrodes is pushed through a hole in the skull toward the center of the brain. When the surgeon can see the fluid-producing tissue is directly at the top of the instrument, the electric current is turned on and the tissue burned away. There is a comparatively slight shock despite the "heroic" nature of the operation.

Doctor Putnam has already operated on seven cases, and has been successful in six. Two died, but from other causes. The other four are now in good health.

WASHINGTON CATHEDRAL

The Washington cathedral, at Mount St. Alban, is being built slowly through the years as contributions come in from all corners of the world. Recently a large sum was presented to the architects and builders, which will permit them to add to the south walls of the transept. More than $10,000,000 already have been spent on this inspiring edifice, which rises 400 feet above the Potomac on the Mount St. Alban site. The bishop's garden is a special feature of the grounds.

NATIONAL FARM YOUTH CONGRESS AT CHICAGO

Chicago, American farm youth will have its attention focused upon Chicago during the first week of December when the 14th National Congress of 4-H Clubs will be held here in connection with the 1935 International Live Stock Exposition.

According to G. L. Noble, director of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club work, delegates of farm boys and girls will travel to Chicago from 44 states this year to take part in the contests and conclaves that will determine the national champions among the million youngsters in the country who are now enrolled in some form of 4-H activity.

Free Trips Awarded

Approximately 1300 youths will attend the 1935 Club Congress. They will be given free all expense trips as a reward for having won in contests and project demonstrations held during the summer and fall months at Fairs in their home states.

Their activities will center in the 4-H Club building which is adjacent to the new $2,000,000 amphitheatre home of the International Live Stock Exposition.

Losing control of his car as it approached a bridge, a driver sustained only a fractured skull when the machine plunged through a barrier of heavy timbers, sailed fifteen feet, landed on its wheels on a ten-foot culvert separating two lanes of traffic, and came to a stop three feet from a river's edge.

Although this driver lived, says the accident prevention department of the Chicago Motor Club, another in a minor accident might add his name to the nation's fatality list. That is why it doesn't pay to take chances.

"I had a lot of fun at Joe's stag party last night. He had a beer drinking contest, and I entered it." "Is that so? Who won second prize?"—Oral Hygiene.

PAPER SUSPENDS AFTER A 15 CENTURY CAREER

PEIPING, CHINA.—After being in circulation for more than 15 centuries the Peking Bao has ceased publication.

The newspaper, which was founded in 400 A. D. by Su Kung, was originally printed on six pages of yellow silk stitched together. In 1800 it became a daily paper.

Many were the vicissitudes it passed through, but generation after generation it continued to bring the latest news into the homes of the people, and in spite of interdiction and suppressions it persisted for more than 1,530 years.—Publishers Auxiliary.

If every driver carrying passengers would pause just a moment before starting, to remember that the life of everyone in the car is his to safeguard, there would be fewer accidents, notes the accident prevention department of the Chicago Motor Club.

It is safe to predict that such a practice on the part of motorists would soon result in the "other fellow," who causes all the accidents, disappearing from the road.

True Armament and Disarmament

MUCH is said and written these days about armament and disarmament. Right-thinking individuals the world over favor peace and conclude that war is not the best way to accomplish a constructive settlement. In spite of the yearning for peace and righteousness there seems to be a constant clamor, by lawmaking bodies, for larger armies and navies. The argument is that nations must continue to protect their rights through a means that is itself wrong—a paradoxical presentation often promulgated through false propaganda.

What then can peace-loving individuals do to correct this falsity? Every Christian knows that the solution to all problems can be obtained through an understanding of the Bible, particularly of the teachings of Christ Jesus.

In the Scriptures is the command (Matthew 22:39), "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Could one love his neighbor as himself and at the same time harm him? Could one love his neighbor as himself and continually fear and distrust him? Could fear and distrust occupy thought together with love? And if we all loved our neighbor as ourselves, could there possibly be a desire to attack or harm another? Of course the answer to these questions is forever, No! The solution, then, is to arm ourselves with love and to disarm every phase of error that would oppose love.

In Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures Mary Baker Eddy writes (p. 29): "Christians must take up arms against error at home and abroad. They must grapple with sin in themselves and in others, and continue this warfare until they have finished their course." The only battle possible, then, is in individual human consciousness, where suggestions of hate and distrust of our fellow men are to be replaced with love and confidence. Paul says, "The weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds" (II Cor. 10:4).

We "must grapple with sin" in ourselves and in others—must know that sin belongs not to any child of God. Each one needs to know that hatred, envy, greed, and malice are not from God; hence are not expressed by God's man. We must know that there is no law to govern these false suggestions, and that they lose their seeming power when denied entrance into our thought. We must know that sin cannot govern or control our fellow men or ourselves. To separate the lying claims of sin from our thought of our neighbor will enable us to think him as God's child, and will thus help him also to destroy hatred and distrust in his own consciousness.

Nations are comprised of individuals; therefore the thinking of individuals constitutes the thinking of the nations. Since many individuals desire peace with their neighbors, whence does the argument for war arise? Through a false sense of patriotism, a wave of propaganda may go forth leading some to believe that they have been unjustly treated, and that they must shoulder arms and kill their fellow men in order to settle the difficulty and protect their government and their personal property.

At the base of this misinformation will often be found a sense of greed claiming to influence groups who think they may gain something by stirring up strife between nations. Certainly this life and its effects can be neutralized by the consecrated effort of Christians to eliminate from individual consciousness the belief in hatred and to replace it with love.

At our present stage of thinking it may not be feasible to dispense with navies, but there should be no rivalry between nations as to this method of armament. Good will does not exploit fighting equipment or ability. If we are to exemplify the Scriptural teaching, "Love thy neighbor as thyself," competition, rivalry, hate must cease, and love must be established in individual human consciousness in order that disarmament may be accomplished on a sound basis. —The Christian Science Monitor.

"DARK ANGEL" DRAMATIC HIT WITH FREDRIC MARCH, MERLE OBERON, HERBERT, MARSHALL OPENS AT PARTHENON SAT.

Fredric March, Merle Oberon and Herbert Marshall in Samuel Goldwyn's production "The Dark Angel," released through United Artists

"The Dark Angel," Samuel Goldwyn's gripping romantic drama, starring Fredric March, Merle Oberon and Herbert Marshall, will be the feature attraction at the Parthenon Theatre for four days beginning Saturday.

This powerful and beautiful love story, set in a lovely, quiet corner of rural England, reflects the hearts of a woman and two men—one of whom she loves, while the other loves her.

A great emotional climax is reached when the man she loves comes to a realization of his love for her. Their happiness is short lived, however, as the relentless forces of life tear them apart. Years after, when the girl has resigned herself to a betrothal to the other man, a kindlier fate intervenes and the lovers are reunited.

Sidney Franklin, who handled the megaphone on "The Barrets of Wimpole Street," "Smilin' Thru" and other outstanding film productions, directed "The Dark Angel."

Others prominent in the supporting cast are Janet Beecher, John Halliday, Henrietta Crossman, Frieda Inescort, Claude Allister, George Breakston, David Torrence and Cora Sue Collins. The film is released through United Artists.

A MATCH FOR MULLENS

By RUTH KELLY

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate WNU Service.

HER name was Geraldine Mullens but none of us ever bothered with all that. We didn't even call her Jerry. It was just Mullens.

Mullens was old T. G.'s secretary; an important job at the Stone Advertising agency. She was platinum preferred, with grave blue eyes that sparkled when she smiled. And she was little and cuddly, though none of the boys at the agency ever did much about that till Kip Wilkens came along. The fact was, you couldn't help thinking of Mullens as cuddly but you just didn't talk about it. She was that important.

Kip was a salesman, one of the best. He was handsome, the dark, romantic type, and he had a lazy Southern drawl. It was evident from the start that Mullens liked him. Kip fell for her, too. Only sometimes he forgot to consult her on important matters, and that was bad. He didn't do it to be mean. He was really crazy about the girl. But he just didn't think of Mullens that way.

It was hard on Queen Mullens after her long, successful reign and sometimes the air got pretty thick. She tried to take it gracefully. But Kip was a frequent offender. And one day things came to a climax.

Kip burst into the office this day, his face just one big grin. Mullens was out of the room.

"Boys," he announced, "I'm going to hit old T. G. for a raise."

Jake whistled softly. "You must be going to get married, or something," he said.

"You guessed it," said Kip, "that is, if she'll have me."

Nobody asked whom he meant. We all knew he was talking about Mullens. But Jake warned him.

"You better not go in there now. Mullens has been getting rid of bigger men than you today. She'll never forgive you if you go over her head this time."

Kip hoisted himself up onto one of the desks, pushed his hat back on his head.

"Boys, you don't understand. I can't tell Mullens why I want to see old T. G. because I haven't asked her to marry me yet. I can't ask her till I get more money. So that's that. And now, while I've still got my nerve—" he slid off the desk and strode toward old T. G.'s office just as Mullens appeared in the opposite doorway.

"Kip," her voice was tense, "where are you going?"

Kip gave her that winning smile, but his shoulders were squared to the deed.

"Got to see old T. G., honey. Got to see him right away. It's important."

Mullens was tired. "You can't see him now," she cried. "Whatever it is it will have to wait."

Mullens' orders. But there was no stopping Kip. He shook his head. "Sorry, Mullens, but this can't wait." And in he went.

When he joined us later in the outer office Kip had got the raise all right, but we figured by the look on his face that he had had it out with Mullens.

"I'm through," he said, moving heavily to the door. "Checking out."

"You got a raise and you're quitting?" Jake razzed him. "What's the big idea?"

With his hand on the door knob he muttered it. "Ask Mullens."

So Jake did as she came through the door that minute.

"Mullens," he blurted out, "you didn't turn him down?"

It turned out to be an embarrassing question. But Mullens gave it to us straight, her blue eyes dark with misery. "Turn him down?"

There was a bitter little smile at her lips. "How could I when he hasn't even asked me."

"He was going to," Jake went on even though Kip tried to stop him. "That's why he asked for the raise. You must have said something or he wouldn't be quitting."

"A raise? Quitting?" It was all news to Mullens. She paled. "Kip, you're not—"

Kip shrugged. "It was your idea, wasn't it?"

"But I was angry. I didn't mean—"

"You said there wasn't room here for both of us. You said—"

"She said," Jake reminded him, "that you didn't ask her. And that's important, Kip."

"Oh, Kip," said Mullens in a tiny voice, "were you—do you—"

There was an extra loud rattling of the doorknob as Kip's hand fell away. In two strides he was at Mullens' side.

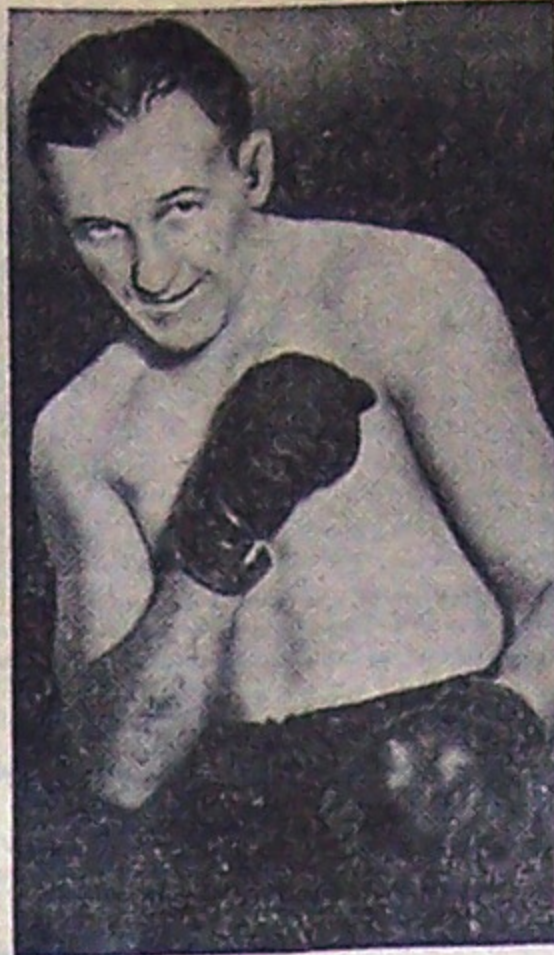

"Mullens," he said in brave loud tones, "will you marry me?"

Mullens didn't exactly say yes. She just buried her platinum head in Kip's rough coat.

Must Come Up for Air

A true fish, the mudskipper (Perlophthalmus) of tropical countries, not only spends most of its time on land but must come up for air frequently while in the water.—David Tison, Manila, Philippine Islands, in Collier's Weekly.

He's Moving Up

Jack Gibbons, twenty-two years old, carries a name famous in ring history. As he started a tour of the Pacific coast this St. Paul lad could boast of winning 64 bouts, 24 by knock-outs. Experts think he may be a contender for the heavyweight title. Jack's father is Mike Gibbons, welterweight champion in 1912, and his uncle was Tom Gibbons, who fought Jack Dempsey at Shelby, Mont., in 1923.

BASIC VALUES

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

An old German motto reads:

When wealth is lost, nothing is lost; When health is lost, something is lost; When character is lost, all is lost.

"He who steals my purse, steals trash, but he who steals my good name, takes not only that which enriches him, but makes me poor indeed."

How true this is. Money is only a symbol. We exchange it for the necessities and the luxuries of life. The invested dollar is valuable as a reserve; otherwise, it is more of a liability than an asset because we lose what it might earn. It is far easier to win back the money we have lost than to regain either health or character.

"When wealth is lost, nothing is lost"—not so with health, for in losing health one has lost his capacity for work and his ability to enjoy the good things of life. A prominent educator wrote as his last New Year's resolution: "This year I will take care of my health, my most precious possession. I will sleep eight hours out of twenty-four. I will not worry. I will relax, rest, eat wholesome food, and cultivate proper and regular habits in all my living." A wise resolution! The loss of health destroys much that life holds dear. Guard your health. It is your most precious physical and mental possession. For, "When health is lost, something is lost."

The most important factor in the economic and the social world is character. Character is what we are in the organic unity of our secret thinking. Remove character from business and we have bankruptcy. Character is our most important asset in the world of social values. No matter how wealthy or healthy we may be, if we do not possess character, we will be neither trusted nor admired. There are many kinds of hunger, hunger for food, for knowledge, for pleasure, but the deepest hunger is that for friendship and love.

We can buy food and pleasure

Who Are You? The Romance of Your Name

By RUBY HASKINS ELLIS

An Allen?

THE name Allen has passed through many changes in spelling, but the present well-known form has been in general use since the Thirteenth century.

The name has been found in a very early period, even before the Christian era, spelled Ala, from the Aryan word "al," meaning mountainous. The first-place name was Mount Alannus, north of the Caspian sea, and the people of this locality were known as the Alani tribe.

Later, this name is found in Britain, then it was transferred to Brittany, where it flourished for many centuries, and finally brought back to Britain by Alan I, a general in the army of William the Conqueror, who, after the historic battle of Hastings in 1066, was created Earl of Richmond. At his death this title passed to his brother, Alan II, and from him was handed down for many generations.

One of the first members of the family to use the name, as it is now spelled, was Henry Allen, Lord of Buckenhall, Staffordshire, England, in 1272. Robert Henry Allen, high sheriff of County Devon, 1851, traced his descent in a direct line to Henry. Most of the branches spelling the name, Allen, Allyn, Alleyne and Alleyne can trace to Henry.

John Allyn, a canon of Windsor, was born 1372. William Allen, born 1532, was made a cardinal in 1581. Henry Allen was bailiff of Yarmouth, 1271. Johannes Allen was a member of parliament from Yarmouth, 1314.

In London, 1246, Pyers Alleyne was Lord Mayor of that city. There were many of this name with titles of high degree, dukes and lords, who are found in every period of England's history.

There were many "first settlers" of this family in America. Too many to recount here, but one of the earliest arrivals was Edward, who left London in 1690. His vessel was attacked off Portsmouth, N. H., by pirates, a common occurrence in that day, but he effected his escape and made his way to Nantucket, R. I., where he settled. He served his community as juror, constable and trustee.

The great number of the Allen pilgrims who settled in New England in the earliest days of the colony is sufficient evidence to warrant the vast number of descendants in every part of the United States today. There were Allens who were of the Virginia colony also.

A Bigelow?

THE original home of the Bigelow family was in the county of Chester, England. It was there that the family lived and flourished for many generations. The name was first spelled Baguley, and by some curious process it finally became Bigelow as it is spelled today.

Richard de Baguley was the first ancestor known to the family. He was the head of the house at Chester.

Many generations later there lived in Suffolk county a descendant of the family called Randall Baguley. It is through him that American Bigelows claim descent.

The first American Bigelow was John, who was born in Suffolk county, England. He came to America and settled in Watertown, Mass., in 1632. He was loyal to the colonies and served in the early wars.

There are, today, Bigelows scattered to the four winds in this country but most of them are descendants of John, of Massachusetts.

Helpfulness Without Display

Matthew 6: 1-4

Take heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them; otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven. 2. Therefore when thou doest thine alms, do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward. 3. But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth: 4. That thine alms may be in secret and thy Father which seeth in secret himself reward thee openly.
