APPROVE WATER EXTENSION PLAN

BOARD RECEIVES PWA'S O. K. ON PLANT CONTRACT

An ordinance approving the plans and specifications for the water works extension was passed at the regular Tuesday night session of the village board at the village hall, as were two ordinances providing for the issuance of bonds for financing the water extension. The first bond ordinance was for bonds in the amount of $28,000 to provide funds for refinancing the outstanding water certificates, which were 6 per cent interest bearing. The present bonds will be 4½ per cent interest bearing.

The second ordinance was for bonds in the amount of $47,000 at 4½% interest for the construction of the pipe lines necessary, reservoir, and pump house for the extension. The two ordinances provide for a complete water extension fund of $75,000, to which will be added the $17,571 which was granted the village for this purpose.

This $75,000 issue of bonds has been sold through the LaRocco company of Chicago, and the village council has advertised for bids on the construction work to be presented at a special meeting of the council Wednesday, December 11. Accepting of the PWA grant makes it necessary for the work to get underway this month.

Mandamus Suit

Following the passing of the water ordinance, the village attorney informed the city council that he had obtained another continuance on the mandamus suit of the heirs of the J. J. Dunnegin Co. vs. the Village of Lansing, but that it had been set for hearing January 20.

This suit is for a quarter of a million dollars claimed by the heirs of the J. J. Dunnegin Co. as due them from the installation of the huge sewer system installed in the village several years ago.

It will be recalled that this sewer was installed at an original cost of approximately one million dollars and the claim of the heirs of the construction company for an additional amount has been fought by the village administrations for many years. While these heirs have won a court judgment against the village for the amount named and mandamus the village in an effort to collect, the officials have stalled the final decision in an effort to save the taxpayers this additional levy as long as possible.

The whole case is being studied very carefully by the present trustees for any technicalities or loop holes that might divert this burden from the local tax payers.

O. K. Contract

A letter from the PWA was received by the council giving that administration's final authorization of the contract with the Sides Construction company for the erection of the disposal plant.

Bill Tabled

S. G. Hayes presented a bill in the amount of $3570 for the paving of Henry street which was tabled for consideration by the finance committee, there being some uncertainty as to the reason for the bill being above the engineer's estimate of $3200.

Protest Tax

A resolution was passed allowing for the payment of $28.50 to the Illinois Municipal League to be used by that organization in its fight against the 1935 Utility tax. This tax which is under protest by the towns and villages would compel the municipalities to pay to the state three per cent sales tax on water sold through the municipally owned water systems. The league has entered a protest against the tax and the town and villages are

EMMA DE HUIS BURIED MONDAY

The funeral services for Mrs. Emma De Huis were held in the Lansing Reformed church, Monday afternoon, Rev. G. J. Rozeboom officiating.

Mrs. De Huis passed away Friday at 11:00 at the home of her daughter Mrs. Fred Kester of Forest avenue after an illness of several months.

Mrs. De Huis was born in the Netherlands April 1, 1861. She was married to Mr. Arie De Huis in the Netherlands in 1886. They came to America in the year of 1889.

The deceased is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Fred Kester, two grandchildren Harry and Emma Kester—two brothers, Adrian and John De Kreek.

FAULTY BRAKES CAUSE ACCIDENT

L. E. Ellis, driver of an Interstate Motor Freight company's truck laid the blame for the accident in which his truck was overturned and the car of Leo McLaughlin also overturned at Ridge road and Burnham avenue Saturday morning, to faulty brakes. At least he said he had applied the brakes to stop at the stop sign but that they failed to work.

The accident occurred at 7 a. m. just as Mr. McLaughlin, who is a Hammond mail carrier, was going to his work. The truck, a six wheel semi-trailer, north bound on Burnham failed to stop for the traffic sign and hit the McLaughlin machine, causing them both to overturn.

Mr. McLaughlin, it appeared at first, was only slightly bruised and scratched, but he was unable to stay on the job Monday and has been very ill all week suffering from nervous shock. The truck driver was uninjured.

Ellis was taken to the police station by Officer Van Lanningham where he posted a $100 cash bond and is to appear before Judge Sherrow Saturday.

The McLaughlin car was ruined in the accident and the cab of the truck badly dented.

NEW CITIZENS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schonbok of Oak Glen, baby girl, named Carol Anne, November 24th.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lewis of West Pullman, baby girl recently. Mr. Lewis is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steinbach.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wigsmoen of North Lansing announce the arrival of a 12½ pound son, born Saturday, November 30. He is to be named Ralph Emerson.

dividing the costs of the case.

Seek Audit

Another letter from the Better Government Association was before the council referring to its letter of November 2, asking permission to have the village books audited. The letter written by E. J. Davis, president of the association, suggested that should the village dads refuse this permission the association could bring suit for the permission.

It was believed this action was the outgrowth of the attempt made by "Dynamo" Weinberg to use PWA workers for the audit which the court authorized to have his auditors make.

The village clerk, Henry Boender, was instructed to write Mr. Davis that he might conduct his audit.

Board Passes A Re-funding Resolution

Passing of a resolution for the refunding of bonds now due was the most important matter before the local school board at its regular meeting Monday evening. This resolution authorized the sale of $14,000 worth of 5% interest bearing bonds against the school district funds to be used to retire indebtedness now due. The bonds are to be in the amount of $1,000 each with the first maturity date of 1952-53. Payment of principal and interest on these bonds has been provided for by tax.

It was learned that a definite report from the treasurer, Joe Meyer, was not obtainable until PWA auditors who have been "boondoggling" with his books for the past six months, had completed their activities and removed themselves, but that receipts from the township treasurer showed $1200 for the building fund, and approximately $4,000 received in warrants. Also a probable $250 for the educational fund.

Current bills were allowed and the rest of the meeting devoted to the discussion of administrative problems, the first of which was the request presented by Mr. Crawl from the teachers that the Christmas holidays be extended until January 6, making the vacation period two weeks instead of reconvening school on Thursday January 2, as originally allowed by the board. This request was granted. Mr. Crawl was authorized to have the basketball suits cleaned.

A request from Mr. Balder for more money for the extra work and time required when the Coolidge gym was used by outside basketball teams, resulted in a spotty discussion that bounced about from the proper amount to charge the boys for the use of the gym, to toilet facilities, small boys out side the building, boy patrols during school hours, wondering why Lansing hasn't any PWA patrols this year, if any more PWA projects could be put through to cutting a door from the Coolidge gym into the boys toilet and whether this would be a feasible move and a final decision to relieve Mr. Balder from basketball night duty and have the boys using the gym pay a special police officer to watch and protect the building. In as much as the board would not be hiring the officer it was suggested the Tom Straus ask for the job. No motion was made in this matter.

The weight of executive matter being eased from there on the board members slipped in a little of the human element in trying to persuade Lester P. that

REPUBLICAN RALLY

The opening guns of the Republican campaign of 1936 will be fired locally Friday evening, Dec. 6, at the Lowell school gymnasium at Lexington and 157th street in Harvey.

Edward Hayes, Past Commander of the American Legion will be the main speaker of the evening, and every one who has heard Mr. Hayes will pass the word along that things are really going to be said.

The usual appeal has been sent out for all good Republicans to come to the aid of the party and the committee on arrangements for the evening program promises not a dull moment.

Mr. Winterhoff local committeeman has assured us that ample transportation will be provided for those wishing to attend the meeting from Lansing.

MR. AND MRS. POWERS HONORED AT PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Powers and children, Clark and Evelyn, were guests of honor at a lovely Thanksgiving party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Vivian of Davenport, Iowa. The dinner party was held Saturday evening with the house beautifully decorated with bouquets of roses and chrysanthemums, and the twenty guests sat down to a brilliantly lighted dinner table made attractive with miniature turkeys and fruit. The evening was made pleasant by the playing of bunco and cribbage. The Powers returned to their home here Sunday. Their stay in Davenport included a visit with the Virgil Warfield family, as well as at the Vivian home.

900 ATTEND ANNUAL DINNER

Munster's Chamber of Commerce believes that the way to the people's respect and good wishes is through their stomachs and sends its policeman and other local sportsmen into the wilds of Michigan to capture venison and bear for the annual dinner to which every citizen of the town is invited.

The dinner, which was held Wednesday night at the Munster town hall was attended by 900 hungry folks all of whom were well fed and happy when the last of the gigantic meal had been served.

With Police Officer Bennett as master of ceremonies and with the aid of the Ladies of the Reformed church, the Ladies' Home Bureau, the fire department and thirty of the young girls of the town the huge meal was served in approximately three hours, 240 people being admitted to the dining room at one time. Perfect order was maintained at all times.

Preparations for the meal were begun Monday when a group of workers began peeling potatoes, carrots, turnips, etc. Some 800 pounds of potatoes were used, five bushels of carrots and other things in like amounts. Mr. Ellyson, chef at the Woodmar country club barbecued the meat to perfection, and 1000 rosy cheeked apples were baked for dessert.

And after that we are wondering if it won't take more than the new water, the local dads are providing to keep Lansing citizens at home in Lansing, or will there be a general exodus to Munster.

they each should come up and see him sometime, and just in a friendly way help him keep the mams in order. Art Ward seemed particularly interested in the good looking ones but decided it would take too much time to call on all the rooms as would be the necessity, so wished the job on Mr. Janish and about that time Ray Kraay made a motion to adjourn, evidently afraid the "gal" reporter would tell, and so the talk shifted to the new sewage disposal plant and other matters of village interest with some pumping being directed toward the attorney for information.

Concluding the business, the meeting was turned over to the program committee who presented the Lansing Treble Trio who sang several delightful numbers. Personnel of the trio is: Misses Anna DeVries, Emily Keesen, Ada Rottier and Ethel Eenigenburg, Miss Rottier being the pianist. Following the trio the Boy Scouts gave an interesting review of their activities at Camp Wicker.

The picture contest resulted in Miss Boutin's room getting the picture which was the gift of Mrs. A. Larson. Mr. Crawl is to present this picture at the January meeting.

Concluding the business, the meeting was turned over to the program committee who presented the Lansing Treble Trio who sang several delightful numbers.

Personnel of the trio is: Misses Anna DeVries, Emily Keesen, Ada Rottier and Ethel Eenigenburg, Miss Rottier being the pianist. Following the trio the Boy Scouts gave an interesting review of their activities at Camp Wicker.

CLASS MEETS

The Star Class of the M. E. church held its regular meeting at the home of Miss Naomi Frevert of South Wentworth avenue Monday evening. There were 17 members of the class present.

Mr. and Mrs. John Int Hout entertained Mrs. Int Hout's mother, Mrs. Martha Stevens of Chicago, and Lester J. Stevens and Miss Ruth Corbin of Willington, Ill. on Thanksgiving day.

PTA CONSIDERS JOINING STATE ASSOCIATION

Mrs. J. C. Dykus, president of the Hammond high school PTA was present at the Tuesday night meeting of the local Parent-Teachers' association and gave an interesting talk concerning the advantages of being affiliated with the state and national organizations.

A vote taken on a motion to indicate the inclination of those present toward becoming members of the state association showed a majority willing to join but due to the out of date and incomplete by-laws that govern the local organization, a definite vote as to joining the state was deferred until the matter had been presented to the meeting at the Indiana avenue school and until a new set of by-laws had been drawn and presented in due order for the approval of the general meeting.

Business covered at this meeting included a complete report as to the financial returns from the carnival, a statement as to expenditures and gave the amount in the treasury at that time as $256.22.

Mr. Crawl was asked to give a list of things needed by the school that the PTA might be able to supply, and presented the following list: Library books, $100; physical education supplies, $30; art supplies, $20; Christmas treat for the children, $37; curtains for the auditorium at the Indiana avenue school, cost not known; and a set of encyclopedia that had been offered at a bargain price of $16.

Votes on this list of needs granted all the requests except the Christmas treat amount which was cut in half, $17 being appropriated for this purpose, and the Indiana avenue auditorium curtain fund, a committee being named to investigate the cost of the curtains. Two sets of the encyclopedia were bought.

The finance committee was instructed to continue the motion picture shows paying the necessary expenses as they were incurred, this same committee was also instructed to go ahead with plans for a minstrel show.

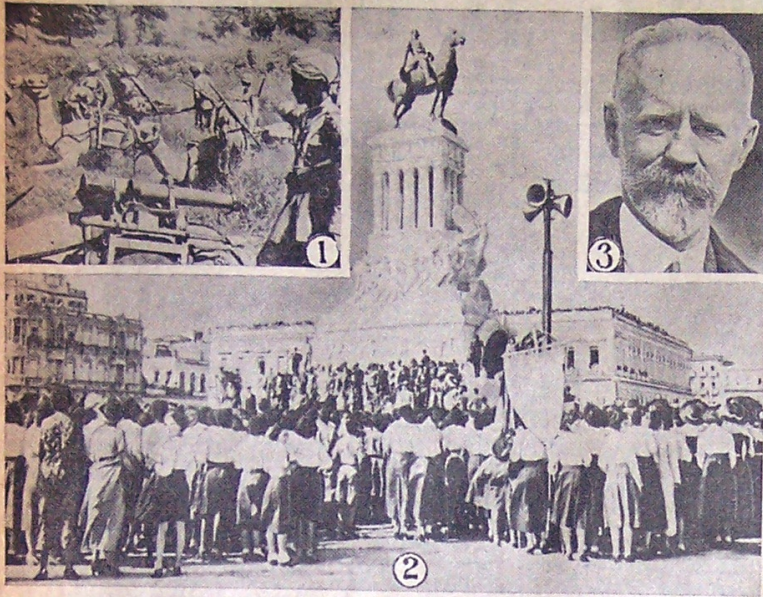

The picture contest resulted in Miss Boutin's room getting the picture which was the gift of Mrs. A. Larson. Mr. Crawl is to present this picture at the January meeting.

Concluding the business, the meeting was turned over to the program committee who presented the Lansing Treble Trio who sang several delightful numbers. Personnel of the trio is: Misses Anna DeVries, Emily Keesen, Ada Rottier and Ethel Eenigenburg, Miss Rottier being the pianist. Following the trio the Boy Scouts gave an interesting review of their activities at Camp Wicker.

Other guests at the Thanksgiving celebration were, Mr. and Mrs. Van Prooyan and 2 children of Highland, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vroom and 2 children, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Vroom and 2 children, and Miss Anna and Henry Vroom. # Five Women Who Are Rulers of an Ohio Town

The government of the town of Linndale, Ohio, a suburb of Cleveland, is practically a matriarchy. Not satisfied with the male administration, the women of Linndale decided to "clean house" and succeeded in electing a slate of their own choosing which included the mayor, treasurer, clerk and two of the six councilmen. The women are shown here as they attended their first meeting. Left to right, seated: Mary Roginsky, treasurer; Ann C. Lakowitz, mayor, and Helen Lashutka, clerk. Standing: Mrs. Ozema Williams and Mrs. Ethel Sotos, councilmen.

AMERICAN STYLE

For the next few months the people of this country will find themselves bombarded on all sides by words. The first blast was released out in California some time ago when ex-president Hoover started in telling us just what was wrong with Mr. Roosevelt's administration, and we believe the most quoted paragraph from Mr. Hoover's speech concerned a bureau for something or other to do with xither, xylophone, etc., satire on the alphabetical reign calculated to catch the fancy of the listener rather than to appeal to the senses of the thinker.

Mr. Roosevelt followed shortly with a statement most startling, its substance being that the country was insolvent during Coolidge and Hoover administrations with a debt of $21,000,000,000 and is solvent at the present time with a national debt of $29,500,000,000 and granting the varacity of his statements he proceeds to prove the fact.

A Chicago paper follows Mr. Roosevelt ripping his speech all to pieces with contradictory statements cleverly phrased again to catch the fancy or mind of the layman. And so the campaign is on, a battle of words and phrases that will leave the "poor public" with very little exact information and a great deal of confusion of thought.

Catch phrases have won almost every presidential campaign for many generations and will probably continue to do so. Hoover went into the White House over the "Full dinner pail" slogan, and Roosevelt on a "New Deal," its the American style and no doubt the forth coming campaign will be fashionable.

All the voter has to do is try to figure it out, shut his eyes and make his mark, depending on the stability of our United States Constitution and the Supreme court to see us through.

EXTRA EXTRA

Notation

A full and true report being the supposed duty of a conscientious news reporter, and we being a dutiful person do hope the school board won't throw us out at their next, inasmuch as one of our local ministers has told us that he personally likes our occasional lapse into the "human interest" stuff.

And then being in a passive state of mind at present we won't try to kid Art Ward relative to his remark about the girls, or Attorney Lewis about his legs, unduly, but frankly, we believe both indicate the ageing process.

Relative to Mae West

Who recently laid down a set of rules for holding your man, and what we think is the best thing about the rules, is that all the men of the country will read them and accept them as gospel.

Fun

Personally the biggest kick we get out of this column is having folks tell us just which parts they think O. I. Lewis writes.

Week's Best Story

Concerns a certain masculine member of society who has stood for a h— of a lot of ribbing recently about taking on extra amount of avoirdupois, (just plain getting fat). It seems this avoirdupois betrayed him, a chair resented him, the papas laughed at him and the fire department is short a chair, and Pop's got a couple of bruised spots.

Boondoggling

Comes in somewhere when the "Persecuting" attorney supplies the PWA bigwigs with such rotten liquor that they make press releases like the ones sent out this week. "Really, my dear, we honestly wonder if any of the gentlemen know what they are about." At least we don't publish reports with facts as distorted as that, regardless of persons.

A Contribution

This week wonders "Why the young punks think they are so grown up?" My Lawd, lady, parents ever since Adam and Eve have been wondering that.

News and Views

Some time ago our state department at Washington apologized to Mussolini on account of Gen. Smedley D. Butler saying mean things about the Duce. Now it would seem that the outspoken Gen. has an apology coming to him.

We can expect the would-be republican candidates to have their picture taken while pitching hay most any time now.

Here is some more new deal stuff. We understand the new potato law as follows: Any one who grows and sells potatoes who did not grow potatoes in 1933 will have to pay a tax of 3-4 of a cent per pound if he sells at the present price. It is needless to say that the supreme court will overrule such a law if a test case is made.

We agree with the man who said that the difference between Farley and Lincoln is, "one is a statesman, the other a politician."

They say Santa Claus' factories are working overtime producing these new Dy Dee dolls.

That article "Sudden Death" with all its reprints caused intelligent people who read it to sit up and take notice.

Campo Ragland whirled. "I'll never ever what?" he demanded in a strange flat voice, like the ring of over-drawn steel.

"You—you'll never deliver up Kentucky Jones!"

Campo's voice rose to a thunder. "And why will I not?"

"Because—when you do—I'll tell them all—the truth!"

Her father's face went empty as he stared at his daughter, as if faced by an enormity too great for him to comprehend. For a moment he wavered as if his mind refused comprehension, like a horse refusing a jump. "What truth?" he managed to get out at last. "What are you talking—"

Jean's voice broke, all but hysterical, cut him down. "You—you know—what truth! If I tell what I know, it's you that'll be hooked for the murder of Mason!"

Watching Campo, Kentucky saw the boss of the Bar Hook fold up. All the strength and aggression went out of his wide lean shoulders, and a ragged palsy came into his hands. "Why, Jenn—" he faltered; "why—Jean—Jean—"

His daughter stood rigid, shoulders up, and arms stiff at her sides, her eyes wide with the glazed brilliance of frozen waterholes as she watched her father. Then her breath caught in her throat, and she began to sob brokenly; and her face streamed with the tears that had been held back for so long.

"Child, child," said Kentucky softly. "You didn't need to do that!"

Jean cried out, "Don't talk to me! Don't—"

The telephone ripped the quiet apart with a whirring clamor.

Kentucky stepped to the phone and took the receiver down. "Well?"

"Who's that?" came the small voice over the wire.

"Kentucky Jones, at the Bar Hook."

"This is Floyd Hopper, Kentucky, you sure got me up in the air. There ain't any question about it—Sanders was killed with the gun that was found in his hand!"

"Well?"

"It's your move, Kentucky. By G—d, it sure is time this thing was cleared up! What goes on here, man? Put a name to it!"

Jean said in a strangled sort of voice, "Is that the sheriff?"

"Just a minute, Hopper," Kentucky said, and turned to Jean.

"What—what are you going to do?"

"What can I do? Your father has stampered us all. If I'd had another week I could have gentled this thing, but now the whole works has blown up under us. All we can do is try to ride it through to a finish, now!" He turned back to the phone.

"Are you there, Hopper?"

"Yes, I'm here."

"Go get Ted Baylor. Arrest him if you have to, but get him. Give a deputy the job of keeping hold of him, and don't let him out of your sight until this thing is cleared up!"

"I've already got Ted Baylor, came the sheriff's voice from Waterman. "I had that from Campo before you called. What's the matter with you fellers out there?"

For a moment Kentucky Jones faltered, and his face went blank, but he spoke to the phone again. "All right. Then go out to the SS and get Bill McCord. When you're got both Ted Baylor and Bill McCord, bring them out here."

"What if Bob Elliot wants to come along with Bill McCord?" the sheriff asked. "McCord is Elliot's foreman. Elliot'll probably want to come along and stand by."

"If Elliot wants to come, let him. I don't care what Elliot does. You bring Baylor and McCord. When you've done that, I'll give you the man that killed Mason."

"Which of 'em is it?" the sheriff demanded.

"Hold the rope a minute," Kentucky turned to where Campo Ragland sat. "Campo," he demanded, "why did you send for Ted Baylor?"

Campo Ragland, returning slowly from the distances, stared at Kentucky a moment, almost as if without recognition. Then he got up and walked toward the door, slowly and unsteadily, like an aged man. His voice was hardly more than a whisper. "To h—l with you," he said; "To h—l with you all."

Kentucky turned back to the phone. "I said," came Sheriff Hopper's voice, "which one of 'em is it?"

"Neither one," said Kentucky. He hung up the receiver.

CHAPTER XII

THE long dusk of the winter rim had given way to night, star bright and frostily clear, before a car was heard upon the Waterman road. Kentucky Jones walked out alone in shirt sleeves.

"Where's Campo?" Sheriff Hopper demanded, climbing out from behind the wheel.

"He's here. Come in."

Into the light of the kitchen Sheriff Floyd Hopper now herded the four other men who were with him. They were Ted Baylor, whose eyes were alert and watchful, and perhaps slightly puzzled in a poker game; Bill McCord, grimly expressionless; Bob Elliot, looking sardonic and self-sufficient; and a blond Norwegian-faced young deputy named Willie Helmar.

"You'll just have a cup of coffee and make yourselves at home," Kentucky said. "Sheriff, Campo and I would like to talk to you a minute, here in the other room."

"All right," Hopper said.

"You fellers sure are a secretive bunch," Bob Elliot grumbled, warning his hands over the stove.

"Come on in, if you want to, Bob."

"I'll Never What?"

Kentucky said. "You might just as well sit in on this."

Elliot accepted, following as Kentucky led the way through the main living room to a little room at one side.

Campo sat in a corner. His heavy desk was pulled diagonally across in front of him, as if he were at bay there, futilely barricaded. From beneath the sweeping dome of his forehead his eyes regarded them as readily as the eyes of a dog in freelight. Suddenly Kentucky wondered if Campo's evident sense of standing stubbornly at bay had been caused more by himself and Sheriff Hopper than by the new far-off woman who had made him fear a showdown upon Mason's death—so fear it that he was held in a paralysis of indecision while Jim Humphreys was killed, and Lee Bishop, and the 88 herds poured over his range.

In the shadows of a recessed window-seat Jean Ragland sat.

Sheriff Hopper said, "Howdy, Campo; howdy, Miss Ragland." Campo flicked him a glance, then dropped surlily red eyes to his thick freckle-blotched hands.

Kentucky Jones began the making of a cigarette. "Seems like we been a little bit disorganized out here, Hopper," he said. "The fact is Campo and I haven't seen eye to eye on this, in all things."

Sheriff Floyd Hopper waited; and Bob Elliot crossed his legs and laced his fingers together.

"It seems," said Kentucky, "that Campo became convinced that I did away with Old Ironsides myself."

Ragland glanced at Kentucky Jones, but did not speak.

"Everybody's known all along," Kentucky said, "that I was out here at the Bar Hook just before snow flew on the day Mason was killed; and I've admitted it. Assuming for a minute that I could easily have got hold of the weapon that killed Mason, the next thing needed against me was my reason for this act of unseemly violence. Campo found out where I did have a good reason—and naturally figured that he'd come to the end of the trail."

"You admit you had a reason for killing Mason?" Hopper said.

"I'm not denying that I had," said Kentucky. "Come to find out, that was one of the reasons that Campo Ragland wanted Ted Baylor brought out here. Ted is one of the very few that know that Mason turned me down on a renewal that I'd counted on—and like to broke me."

"You sure are free-handed about making a case against yourself!"

"Campo was overlooking a couple of things," said Kentucky. "It's true that you can show I was broke by Mason. But what about all those other women that Mason had to close down on? To those men Mason's decisions meant salvation or ruin—exactly as to me. He could not carry us all. In digging up a reason for me to kill Mason, Campo only dug up a motive that forty or fifty rimirack cowmen would own to."

"I see what you're driving at," said Hopper. "Maybe Mason did have such an enemy, or six of them, or fifty; the fifty of them weren't having no barbecue at the Bar Hook the day Mason was killed."

"So I gathered," Kentucky admitted. "But bear in mind this—if any one of the fifty had been there, he might have gun-whipped Mason. There's been an awful lot of wearing of guns in the rimirack the past ten, twelve months, what with riders hoping for a chance to shoot a coyote, or a rabbit—with a .45 slug! Cowmen's minds can work that way only about so long before something boils over and busts."

"Yes," Hopper admitted. "I was looking for it all right; but when it came to killing Mason—"

"He was a right ambitious victim," Kentucky agreed; "but there were big reasons for killing him, too. When you build up pressure like that you can figure on an explosion. But it was the gun smoke in the history, and the pressure of the bad times, that wiped out John Mason—and incidentally Zack Sanders."

"And Jim Humphreys and Lee Bishop," the sheriff put in.

"That's partly true," Kentucky allowed; "the killing of Humphreys and Bishop sure do make up an angle of this thing. It took two things to kill off Humphreys and Bishop—the smoky feeling between the brands before Mason's death, and Mason's death itself. Humphreys and Bishop were killed in the weirdest d—n one-sided range struggle that has ever been seen on this or any other range."

The sheriff said slowly, "Mason's death comes first. But don't you ever think, Elliot, that I've forgotten the funny look of this so-called range war that's rubbed out Humphreys and Bishop. Everybody knows you've swamped Campo's range; and Campo's hardly raised his hand against it. I'll tell you plain, Elliot, if it turns out that Bishop and Humphreys were killed in the kind of shenanigan it looks like, I'll—"

Bob Elliot reddened. "I didn't come here to talk about range rights," he said, "but if you want a showdown on that, I'm ready any time. As long as there's been cattle on the rim, or on the Bake Pan either, no brand has ever leaned any harder against another brand than the Bar Hook has borne down on the 88. If Campo's pulled in his horns, maybe it's because he knows that the rights of the 88 are going to be backed up for a change."

Sheriff Floyd Hopper said angrily. "You're a funny one, Elliot, to bring in talk about rights!"

"You said yourself," Elliot answered, "the Bar Hook has folded up."

Sheriff Floyd Hopper swung restively in his seat. "I can't understand it," he said. "I can't understand it."

"You'll understand it now," said Kentucky Jones. "I can tell you exactly why Elliot has thought he could shove his beef all over Bar Hook range in full peace and comfort."

Kentucky Jones looked Elliot over with a cool unfriendly eye. "I'll tell you another little thing that happened the day Mason was killed," he said. "Bob Elliot and Campo Ragland were riding the Bake Pan range; and it happened that they met on that ride."

"Ellot was armed; Campo Ragland was not. It seems to be a kind of custom with the 88 to take advantage of a situation like that—as Lee Bishop and I found out one day in a little conversation we had with Bill McCord. Naturally, I Elliot met; but I can tell you that what happened was this—Elliot gave Ragland such a cussing out as you couldn't expect any man to stand for, or put up with."

"Is that right, Campo?" the sheriff demanded.

Campo Ragland gave a grunt which might have been an affirmative; it did not appear to be a denial.

"Campo Ragland," said Kentucky Jones, "told Bob Elliot that he would kill him before the day was out."

"He's guessing now," said Bob Elliot.

"Yes, guessing," conceded Kentucky Jones.

Campo Ragland said unexpectedly. "Yes, by G—d—but he's guessing right!"

Kentucky Jones nodded. "Sure I'm guessing right! Up here in the Fryng Pan country there's an old hon hunter called Old Man Coffee; and he says—"

"To h—l with Old Man Coffee," said the sheriff. "What happened then?"

"Just at the moment," said Kentucky Jones, "I can't tell you exactly what happened then; but I can tell you something different, of a very curious interest. On the wall of this house used to be a chromo—an enlarged snapshot—of a man sitting on a horse. You'd look across the room at that little picture, and you'd say to yourself, 'Why, Campo has hung up a lens study of Bob Elliot! Then maybe you'd look closer; and you'd see that it wasn't Bob Elliot at all—but a representation of John Mason.'"

Sheriff Hopper said, "You mean—you're saying—"

"Bob Elliot knew that sometimes, sitting his horse in a certain way and at a certain distance, he and John Mason looked strangely alike; and Campo had promised to kill Elliot that day. Elliot knew that Campo did not dare to take a chance on what a jury might make out of that."

"You're suggesting that Campo Ragland killed Mason by mistake, taking him for Elliot?"

"I'm suggesting that it could be made to look that way; and that Elliot was able to hold that over Campo—and that was why Elliot dared swamp Bar Hook range."

"You mean that he ran a bluff that he could bring Ragland to trial for the murder of Mason?"

"You can call it a bluff," said Kentucky Jones, looking at Bob Elliot, "or you could call it a kind of silent blackmail, if you want."

Bob Elliot jerked forward in his chair as if he would come to his feet. "Why, d—n your eyes," he said. "If you think I'm going to sit here and take—"

"You'll sit there," Kentucky Jones said coolly. "and you'll take it, and you'll take it. You'll take it because you're yellow, clear down to the roots. And you haven't forgotten the night I knocked you kicking and squalling, in the sheriff's office at Waterman."

Bob Elliot's face went white, and his eyes took on a squinting slant. His lower lip dropped loose away from his teeth. "Why, you—"

"Yellow," Kentucky repeated, "clear down to the roots."

An inarticulate blasphemy strangled in Elliot's throat. Sheriff Floyd Hopper made a clutch at Elliot's belt, but missed his hold, as Elliot sprang at Kentucky Jones like a quirted horse.

Kentucky hunched low, then straightened out the whole length of his body behind his left hand. There was a ringing crack, as if a bone had broken, and an instant's confused tangle. Then Bob Elliot was lying on his back, breathing hoarsely, staring at the ceiling with blank eyes; and Kentucky Jones stood over him, nursing his left hand in his right.

Hopper said in a low exasperated voice, "You baited him into that, Jones."

"I was counting on his temper," Kentucky said. "Lord, I thought it would never break!"

Hopper's voice rose angrily. "If you got me out here to make fools of us all—"

"Shut up," Kentucky snapped at him, "we've got work to do. I—"

"You've talked all around and about, and over the bush," Hopper said bitterly. "And you end up with nothing more to the point than a cheap brawl. You've wasted enough words to—"

"Not one single word," Kentucky contradicted him. "I had to go all over that so that you would understand what is going to happen—what I hope is going to happen now. Campo! Hold this range hog here when he comes to—put a gun on him if you need to."

"All right."

Jones caught Hopper's arm and dragged the sheriff after him to the door.

33. Again, ye have heard that it hath been said by them of old time, Thou shalt not forswear thyself, but shalt perform unto the Lord thine oaths: 34. And there shall be charged against all users of said water, including the Village of Lansing, such rates and amount for water service as shall be adequate to meet the requirements of this section. Compensation for services rendered the Village shall be charged against the Village and payment for the same from the corporate funds shall be made monthly into the "Water Fund" created by this ordinance as revenues derived from the operation of the waterworks system in the same manner as other revenues are required to be deposited. It is hereby covenanted and agreed that while any water revenue refunding bonds issued hereunder are outstanding, additional water revenue bonds shall not be issued in excess of the principal amount of $47,000 unless the revenues derived from the waterworks system for the fiscal year then next preceding were sufficient to pay all costs of operation and maintenance, provide an adequate depreciation fund and leave a balance equal to at least one hundred ten per cent (110%) of the aggregate of (a) the principal and interest requirements for such year on the bonds then outstanding, (b) one year's interest on the total issue of such additional bonds then proposed to be issued, and (c) an amount of principal of such additional bonds computed by dividing the total amount of such issue by the number of years to the final maturity date of such additional bond issue. Said restrictions shall not, however, be applicable to the issue of water revenue bonds for improvements and extensions in an amount not to exceed the sum of $47,000. Section 7. The Village of Lansing hereby covenants and agrees with the holder or holders of the bonds herein proposed to be issued, or any of them, that it will punctually perform all duties with reference to said waterworks system required by the constitution and laws of the State of Illinois, including the making and collecting of sufficient rates for water and segregating the revenues of said plant and the application of the respective funds created by this ordinance, and it hereby covenants and agrees not to sell, lease, loan, mortgage or in any manner dispose of said waterworks system, including any and all extensions and improvements that may be made thereto until all of the bonds herein authorized to be issued shall have been paid in full, both principal and interest, or unless and until provisions shall have been made for the payment of all such bonds and interest thereon in full; and the Village further covenants and agrees with the holders of said bonds to maintain in good condition and continuously operate said waterworks system.

Section 8. Provisions of this ordinance shall constitute a contract between the Village of Lansing and the holders of the bonds herein authorized to be issued until such time as all of said bonds issued hereunder and the interest thereon shall be paid in full, or unless and until provision shall have been made for the payment of all bonds and interest thereon in full.

Section 9. That the proceeds of said bonds hereby authorized derived from the sale thereof shall be used solely for the purpose of refunding and paying the waterworks certificates of indebtedness heretofore referred to.

Section 10. If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the other provisions of this ordinance.

Section 11. All ordinances, resolutions or orders, or parts thereof, in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are to the extent of such conflict hereby repealed.

Section 12. That this ordinance be in full force and effect after its passage, approval and publication as required by law.

Whims of Fashion

Scotch plaids enliven the outdoor scene. Colored gloves are the big news of the moment. Shoes have joined the parade of military fashions. Black satin is a favorite material for some of the newest dinner gowns. The latest in women's gloves comes in shining black patent leather. Fur is applied in all sorts of new and interesting ways on the new cloth coats. Street length evening gowns of silk with formal décolletages are making their debut. "Complexions" injected under the skin and expected to last 20 years, are fashion's latest in London. The fez in multi-color—gleaming silk metals or silk velvet—is a new note with cocktail dresses or evening tulleur. Drapes and padding are being employed to emphasize the rounded contours of the figure or produce a square effect. Ermincrush is the name of an inspired idea for new evening wraps. It is a velvet with a deep, snowy white pile, with the glamor of sleek ermine. A velvet scarf, brown, lined with orange, is made like a sling and can be worn over the head like a hood, as well as around the neck.

Pretty Actress Accuses Hard Cop of Resisting

Betty Ann Painter, pretty "Little Theater" actress, stopped by a Kansas City motorcycle officer, protested, cajoled, flattered, smiled—all to no avail. She went to the station. "She was doing 45 miles an hour, and—" said the officer, remembering,—"resisted." That was too much for the dainty prisoner. "Oh, no," she retorted. "You did all the resisting."

Too Good for Job

It always works.

Just do what hospitals do, and the doctors insist on. Use a good liquid laxative, and aid Nature to restore clocklike regularity without strain or ill effect.

A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the real secret of relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has become. It gives the right kind of help, and right amount of help. Taking a little less each time, gives the bowels a chance to act of their own accord, until they are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit. The action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve any sluggishness or bilious condition due to constipation without upset.

Crush-Resistant Velvet Good News

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

IN VIEWING the current fashion picture it appears as if velvet is about to "run away with the mode." Not that velvet is news to any of us, for women who keep pace with fashion have become so thoroughly and enthusiastically velvet-conscious by this time, they go about town, they dine, they dance, they even sleep in velvet.

However, comes some news that is news, exciting news, news that is joy-radiating. It's crush-resistant velvet, with the emphasis on crush-resistant. In the way of good news, what could be better?

Now, please do not jump at the conclusion that the new crush-resistant velvet is absolutely non-crushable. No such claim is made by members of the Velvet Guild who are sponsoring it, but they do say that its resistance far exceeds any endeavor in that direction up to date, thus bespeaking a greater more dependable serviceability for this new type of velvet. Anyway it's a comfortable thought to know that there's velvet to be had that is definitely more resistant to crushing than any velvet heretofore known.

Speaking of the overwhelming predominance of velvet in the present mode, some style leaders go so far as to declare that this is the most important season from a fashion angle that velvet has ever known. From accessories of all kinds through the entire gamut of clothes goes velvet on the fall and winter program.

For daytime wear the vogue for velvet suits and coats, fur-trimmed or otherwise, is established. For afternoon, for formal and informal evening wear there are luxurious, beautiful novelties as well as superb plain weaves in velvet. The heavy classic Lyon velvet is an excellent medium for gowns of pomp also.

Besides the well-woven yarn-dyed costume velvets, interesting variations have been devised with mixtures of metal and cellophane threads which answer the call for glitter this season. Crinkled velvets which look as if shirred are also much in evidence. Then, too, delicately woven transparent velvets hold their own. This type shirs and pleats beautifully.

A smart new note is the use of velvet with tweeds and woollens.

Tweed skirts with velvet blouse, tweeds with velvet belts, collars, cuffs and scarfs. Tweed coats detailed with velvet are all featured fashions, as are also the new gilets, waistcoats and complete cape linings of velvet as used with colorful woollens and tweeds.

The costumes of the trio of fashionables here pictured are made of the new crush-resistant velvet. A slight touch of the military is expressed in the red tape and buttons of the black velvet street dress centered in the illustration. It is topped with a self-velvet soldiers' hat with gold cord.

To the right in the group is a black velvet dinner dress with full three-quarter sleeves of silver and multi-color embroidery in a Chinese design. The evening hat has a net crown and a velvet visor.

Cross fox lavishly trims a smart suit of crush-resistant velvet as shown to the left. The jacket is belted and the skirt is the new cocktail length. The blouse is gun-metal lame. Velvet gloves, bag and beret complete the costume.

Origin of Mennonite Church

The Mennonite church, from which the Amish take their beliefs, had its origin in Switzerland in the Sixteenth century, but took its name from Menno Simons, who later carried on the reform movement zealously in Holland, according to a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The faith stresses discipline rather than dogma. The break between the Mennonites and Amish came in 1620, when Jacob Amen, advocating a more thorough reform, became the leader of a new branch of the Mennonite faith. Known at various times down through history as Hookers (because their faith decreed that they use only hooks and eyes to fasten their clothing) and Dunkards, because they maintained the Immersion baptism rites from the Ana-baptist reformers, the sect has now almost universally adopted the Amish name from their founder.

Household Questions

Woolen socks will not shrink if washed carefully in tepid water and white soap suds. Rinse in cold lukewarm water, wring out, and hang to dry quickly.

It is a good trick when trying doughnuts, to cut dough in diamond shapes instead of using a doughnut cutter. They taste just as good when cut in this way.

Always test cake before removing from the oven, even though it may already have baked the length of time stated in the recipe.

It is time to change the water in goldfish bowl when water is so warm fish come to the top of bowl for air. Goldfish like to be kept cool.

When making a pumpkin pie, beat the whites of eggs stiff and fold them into mixture just before baking instead of beating the egg yolks and whites together. The pumpkin filling will be much lighter if prepared in this way.

If you enjoy painting try your skill on one of the unpainted dressing tables. They are most useful and ornamental.

Casserole dishes made of meat, vegetables or fish can be cooked in the morning and reheated just before they are to be served.

A squeaking in hardwood floors is caused by floors not being properly nailed or when subflooring is omitted or laid parallel to flooring strips. An experienced floor-layer will remove the squeak.

Keep onions under cold water when peeling to prevent the tears coming.

Have you tried serving baked cranberry apples with a roast pork dinner? Fill the cavity left in apple after core has been removed with cranberry sauce and bake.

Sometimes roast beef gravy is light colored. If you wish it to be a rich golden brown, put sugar in frying pan until it has browned, then dissolve it in water and add to gravy.

PARIS HATS SHAPED LIKE BASE OF IRON

High hats for sports but at Bask's... The latest and flattest hat shown in Paris is shaped exactly like the base of an iron... with the felt doubled and squared to make an inch-thick plank. It is worn well forward on the head, over a black bandeau, and has two hat-pins, one red and one black, as trim.

Nearly all of the newest hats have a forward going velvet top that is draped to form one part falls over the forehead and the other is cut in a narrow, rounded back line to keep the hat on the head.

For hats, or those fur-trimmed, also do forward.

Off-the-Face Tendency in Hats Is Stronger Than Ever

There is a sudden and definite backward movement in the early fall hats. The off-the-face tendency is stronger than ever, and the new hats seem to have added height as well as length to the crown. A sort of combination hat and bonnet.

The combination of felt and velvet promises to be smart for fall, as with the combination of velvet and grosgrain. The new hats consist of a tight-fitting little shell cap, usually of velvet, with an up-turned felt brim which is wider in front than in back.

Warriors Beat Cameraman, Fear Photos Ruin Souls

A belief among Ethiopian tribes men that they will lose their souls if they are photographed was blamed for a recent violent assault on Edward Genock, Paramount News cameraman, in Harrar, Ethiopia.

Genock, who said he was unaware of the official ban on taking pictures in Harrar, was set upon by warriors as he was making motion pictures of the arrival of Chief Arriasis and his followers. Shouting their native war cries, the blacks seized the cameraman, smashed his camera, and pummeled him before Chief Arriasis succeeded in calling them off.

Ras Fitouarai Bande, in charge of the Harrar territory, answering a protest lodged after the attack said the irregular warriors were members of a fierce and primitive tribe which regards cameras with evil superstition in the belief that whoever obtains their pictures also takes their souls.

Englishman Had 40 Wives; His 79 Children Argue

In the latter half of the Nineteenth century John Dunn, a white Englishman, settled in the Zulu territory of Africa. In the course of his life in Zululand he married 40 native women. Following the Zulu uprising of 1879 he was appointed one of the 13 chiefs controlling the country.

Recently his 79 living children appeared in native court at Cape Town, Africa. They began arguing over the partition of 10,000 acres of land set aside for them by the Union of South Africa parliament. Elean descendant of Dunn is to receive 100 acres.

MOVIE AND RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE

The Clark Gable divorce announcement wasn't exactly news; it had been brewing for a long, long time, with the company that employs Gable trying to stave off a separation—they feared that you and I and all the rest of his public wouldn't flock to the theaters to see the stalwart star if his wife left him. The answer to that is that "Mutiny on the Bounty," his current release, has been drawing bigger crowds than ever, especially in New York, where the society folk with whom he now associates there have flocked to the theater in crowds, clad in ermine, sable, milk, or top hats, white ties and tails. Naturally, there's been a lot of comment on the next Mrs. Gable will be—everybody seems sure that there will be a third Mrs. Gable as soon as the divorce goes through. Hollywood's candidates are Loretta Young and Elizabeth Allen. People who were on location with Clark and Loretta when "The Call of the Wild" was made say there's no question that she is the new love. She says nothing. Elizabeth Allen, rather startled, points out the fact that she already has a husband.

Clark Gable.

In fact, he's pretty pleased with his whole racing stable. Wonder if he's ever heard of the movie star who was urged by his company to take up racing? The executives figured that the star would sink so much money in horses and their upkeep that he'd have to go right on working in pictures till his box office appeal was worn out.

To return for a moment to Clark Gable: when it was announced that he would broadcast while he was in New York, no less than forty actresses (good ones, too), applied for the job of being his leading lady. One offered to pay $1,000 for it. She didn't get it, but Lillian Emerson did—and she hadn't even asked for it!

They do tell me that all this talk about a romance between Jean Harlow and William Powell is a fact, and not just one of those rumors that are cooked up to get movie stars' names into the papers. On the other hand, they tell me also that Mr. Powell is all thrilled over Rosalind Russell, the girl who stepped into "Tendevous" when Myrna Loy stepped out.

Jean Harlow.

Killer Rejoices at Her Narrow Escape From Death Sentence

Life Term Is Given Woman Found Guilty of Shooting Husband.

Tehachapi, Calif.—Her life was in ruins, crumbling. Over her always, the shadow of the noose. Over and over she counted slowly the 13 steps that lead to the gallows. In the dead of night she seemed to feel the cruel clutch of the rope—

Now all that is over. Nellie Madison will not dangle from the hangman's strand. A new Nellie Madison moved among inmates of the state prison for women in this bleak place in the desert where California's female offenders are sequestered.

Gets Life Term.

Tersely, Gov. Frank Merriam announced that he had commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of Nellie Madison, one time cowgirl, for the murder of her husband, Eric D. Madison, motion picture studio auditor.

And when Deputy Warden Josephine Jackson carried to her the commutation, Mrs. Madison, swayed, passed her hand across her brow, and said:

"Not to die? I'll live? Thank God! Thank God!"

And hysterical for a moment, she threw her arms around her attorney, Lloyd Nix, who has persisted in his fight to save the convicted woman from death on the gallows. While this scene was taking place within the prison, the State Su-

PEOPLE FEAR THE THINGS THEY DO NOT UNDERSTAND

The beautiful voice of a famous opera singer issuing forth in song caused a panic on board a ship!

Seriously—that is the content of a news dispatch from off the coast of Australia where an American ship carrying explorers was recently anchored. The voice of the singer came through a gramophone, and the audience among whom it caused a panic was composed of natives, who ran in terror from something that they did not understand.

It may seem incomprehensible to us that a beautiful voice should instill dislike or fear. Whatever the language of the song, you may say, is not beautiful singing beautiful to all who can hear—as the trilling of a bird must sound the same to men of any color and any language?

But the beauty of the voice is obscured by the fact that its source is something the natives do not understand. For that reason it is an object of suspicion—and of fear.

If we stop to think about it, it will surprise many of us to realize how much we have in common with those Australian natives in that we frequently refuse to see beauty in the things we do not understand. We too are suspicious and fearful of things we do not know. Most of the world's bigotry and prejudice springs from ignorance. And many of us, if we but realized it, create a spectacle no less foolish and unreasonable than those natives in panic over a beautiful voice issuing from a gramophone when we condemn without investigation, when we turn without consideration from things which are new, things which are different, ways to which we are not accustomed.

Oldest Fortification in the Western Hemisphere

Cuba's Castillo de la Fuerza (the Castle of the Armed Forces) is believed to be the oldest fortification in the Western hemisphere. It stands at the foot of O'Reilly street in the oldest part of Havana. It was begun in 1538, thereby antedating Morro castle by about 50 years.

The history of La Fuerza goes back to the time of Hernando de Soto. It was there that Dona Isabel de Bobadilla, De Soto's wife, threw herself into the sea upon learning of her husband's death and his burial in the Mississippi river.

GAS, GAS ALL THE TIME, CAN'T EAT OR SLEEP

"The gas on my stomach has so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart hurt. A friend suggested Adierka and sure that dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better."—Mrs. Jas. Miller.

Adierka acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adierka gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, reports:

"In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierka greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleansing with Adierka and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and chronic constipation. Sold by all druggists and drug departments.

AN ORDINANCE authorizing and providing for the issue of $47,000 Water Revenue Bonds of the Village of Lansing, Cook County, Illinois, for the purpose of defraying the cost of improving and extending the present waterworks system of said Village, prescribing all the details of said bonds and providing for the collection, segregation and distribution of the revenue of the waterworks system of said Village for the purpose of paying the cost of the operation and maintenance thereof, providing an adequate depreciation fund therefor and paying the principal and interest of said Water Revenue Bonds.

WHEREAS, it is deemed advisable, necessary and for the best interests of the Village of Lansing, Cook County, Illinois, that its present municipally owned waterworks system be improved and extended by the construction of a twelve inch water main to connect with the waterworks system of the City of Hammond, Indiana, including all valves, meters, pumping equipment and buildings necessary and useful in obtaining for the Village of Lansing an adequate water supply for said Village and its inhabitants, and also the construction of a new concrete reservoir and additional water mains, all in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor, heretofore approved by the President and Board of Trustees of this Village and now on file in the office of the Village Clerk for public inspection; and

WHEREAS, the total estimated cost of such proposed improvements and extensions as prepared by the engineers is the sum of Sixty-four Thousand Dollars ($64,000.00); and

WHEREAS, the Village does not have sufficient funds available for the purpose of constructing said improvements and extensions and it will be necessary for the Village to borrow the sum of Forty-seven Thousand Dollars ($47,000) and in evidence thereof issue bonds therefor; and

WHEREAS, under the provisions of "An Act authorizing any city, village or incorporated town having a population of less than 500,000 to build or purchase, and to operate a waterworks or water supply system either within or without the corporate limits thereof, and to improve and extend a waterworks system or water supply for public and domestic use and to provide for the cost thereof by the issue of revenue bonds payable solely from the revenues derived from the operation thereof," approved April 22, 1899, as amended by Acts approved July 2, 1931 and May 10, 1934, said Village is authorized to issue Water Revenue Bonds for the purpose of paying the cost of such improvements and extensions;

Section 1. That the President and Board of Trustees has caused an estimate of the cost of making improvements and extensions to the waterworks system of said Village consisting of the construction of a twelve inch water main to connect with the waterworks system of the City of Hammond, Indiana, including all valves, meters, pumping equipment, and buildings necessary and useful in obtaining an adequate water supply for said Village and its inhabitants, and also the construction of a new concrete reservoir and additional water mains, all in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor, heretofore approved by the President and Board of Trustees of this Village and now on file with the Village Clerk for public inspection, and has heretofore and does hereby determine that the total estimated cost of such improvements and extensions as furnished by the engineer for the Village is the sum of Sixty-four Thousand Dollars ($64,000.00).

Section 2. That the President and Board of Trustees do hereby determine the period of usefulness of such improvements and extensions to the waterworks system to be forty (40) years.

Section 3. That said Village does not have sufficient funds on hand to pay the cost of such improvements and extensions, and to pay the cost of constructing such improvements and extensions to the present municipal waterworks system of said Village, it will require the issuance of $47,000 Water Revenue Bonds bearing interest at the rate of four and one-half per cent (4½%) per annum, payable semi-annually.

Section 4. That for the purpose of defraying a portion of the cost of such improvements and extensions there be issued and sold water revenue bonds of said Village, to be designated "Water Revenue Bonds," in the principal amount of $47,000, which bonds shall bear date of December 1, 1935, be of the denomination of $1,000 each, be numbered consecutively from 1 to 47 inclusive, bear interest at the rate of four and one-half per cent (4½%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December in each year and mature in numerical order as follows:

Section 5. Both principal and interest of said water revenue bonds shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America, at The Northern Trust Company, Chicago, Illinois. Said bonds shall be signed by the President, sealed with the corporate seal of said Village and attested by the Village Clerk, and the interest coupons attached to said bonds shall be executed by the facsimile signatures of said President and said Village Clerk, and said officials, by the execution of said bonds, shall adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons.

Who Are You? The Romance of Your Name

By RUBY HASKINS ELLIS

A Lincoln?

THIS is a place name taken from the town of Lincoln, in Lincolnshire, England. The name is derived from the word lin, found in Gaelic, Welsh and Cornish-British, which means a pool, pond or lake, and coln, which signifies a ridge or neck of land, so called from the situation. The town of Lincoln was located on the top and side of a steep hill. So evidently the name came from the association of the two places, "the hill by the lake."

This was the beginning of the name, but the family is found later to have been seated for many generations in the town of Hingham, County Norfolk, England. It is from the Norfolkshire Lincolns that the American Lincolns trace descent.

Thomas Lincoln came to America from Hingham, England, in 1633, and was followed in 1637 by his brother Samuel. They settled in Hingham, Mass., named for the town in their mother country. Samuel married Martha—and among their ten children was Samuel, through whom come the governors of Massachusetts, Levi Lincoln, father and son, and Enoch Lincoln, who became the governor of Maine.

The fourth son of Samuel was Mordecai, who married Sarah Jones. They located in Scituate, Mass., and among their five children were Mordecai, Jr., and Abraham, who moved to Monmouth county, New Jersey. Their son, John, located in Virginia, where he married—Moore. They had four sons and several daughters. Among the sons was Abraham, who married Mary Shipley, of North Carolina. His son, Thomas Lincoln, was the father of Abraham Lincoln, sixteenth

President of the United States. Abraham Lincoln's grandfather removed to Mercer county, Kentucky, in 1782, entered a tract of 400 acres of land on the south side of Licking creek, where he built a log cabin near what is now the city of Louisville.

Benjamin Lincoln, of Massachusetts, made a brilliant career for himself during the Revolution. At the outbreak of the war he was lieutenant and colonel of militia.

There were many other Lincolns who served in the American Revolution. Most of them were from the family stronghold, Hingham, Mass. Among them were Amos, who assisted in throwing tea overboard in the famous "Boston Tea Party."

There were Lincolns in Pennsylvania also; Mishel Lincoln served at Fort Pitt under Captain Brady.

There are Lincolns in every part of this country today, and many of them trace their lineage to one or another of the early settlers mentioned in this brief sketch.

A Howard?

THE name of Howard is of Saxon origin and is one of the most ancient of all surnames. There was one Howard, or Hereward, who was living in England in the reign of King Edward, 957-973.

Sir John Howard was the grandfather of Sir Robert Howard, who made the name of Howard illustrious by his marriage to Lady Margaret Mowbray, whose line of descent was claimed from King Edward I, and through him to Philippe Hardi, one time King of France.

Howard

The founder of the Howard family in America was Matthew Howard, who came to this country in 1640, and settled near Annapolis, Md.

EDUCATION AND CHARACTER

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

Beside railway crossings in many of our small towns, there is stationed a watchman whose responsibility is to signal traffic in case of an approaching train. In the daytime he displays a sign "Stop"; in the night, he swings a red lantern. If the watchman should fail to give his signal and an accident occur, it would not be so difficult to win a damage suit against the railway company. If an accident should occur when the watchman had given his signal, the probability of winning a suit would be rather remote.

The placement of responsibility is one of the most difficult tasks confronting our entire social life. It is also, in many cases, the most important question for courts to determine. Was the watchman faithful to his duty? Did he give the warning? One of the most popular criminal cases in recent years was decided on the merit of this single question. Was the criminal warned of the peril of wrong doing? The young son of a rich merchant pleaded guilty of murder. His attorney argued that his father neglected his duty in moral and religious training. The young man had never been taught the necessity of restraining his emotions. He had plenty of money and lived a riotous life. The court held that the young man was not wholly responsible and substituted life imprisonment for the electric chair.

We are spending enormous sums of money on education, religion, and on the development of all the cultural arts; but when we estimate the results, how much has actually helped our youth to live a better and cleaner moral life? The most dangerous factor in our social life today is the educated characterless individual.

If our splendid educational facilities drug the watchman at the tower instead of causing him to give the warning that safeguards from destruction, it has hopelessly failed in its high purpose.

Every teacher from the kindergarten to the university, like every parent, very largely determines the status of public morals. They are like the watchman who, holding up his signal, says—"Just so far, and no farther." As a "watchman" guarding the safety of our American youth, stand the home, the church, the university and the cathedral whose highest responsibility is not only to train the mind but the heart also. Education without character is dynamite.

Complexions Inherited;

Colors Hard to Explain

Your complexion which you inherited from your ancestors, who gradually developed the correct pigmentation to enable them to live healthily in the country to which they belong, has been found to be due to a mixture of at least three separate pigments—black, red and yellow. Even among the so-called white peoples, asserts a writer in the Montreal Herald, the amount of pigmentation varies considerably. There are all stages from very fair to dark. The two extremes—blonds with their light-blue eyes, sandy light, brown, red or flaxen hair, and fair complexion; and brunettes with dark eyes, dark-brown or black hair, and dark complexion—are easily differentiated. Between these, according to medical authorities, are innumerable intermediate types. The commonest of these have dark or black hair, with gray, hazel or blue eyes, the combination of dark eyes and fair hair being rarer. The full significance of the color in the human skin is difficult to explain, but it is in all probability a protection against sunlight—especially the active rays—and heat.

THE craziest system ever figured out by a lunatic would look very good indeed to a dumb cluck like Mudder McMork. For many years now his old standby for a lucky bet is to crack down a chunk on the hides whose names has the same initial as the dame he is racing after.

If Mudder is trying to team up with a blond filly whose moniker is Mary, he favors all the bangtails whose name begins with M; and if this dame's handle is Helen he bets on the nags whose name starts with H.

But I worked out a serious system recently which was based on common sense. A blind man could see it even with both eyes shut. When I tried to explain it to the missus, and we been hitched long enough that I ought to know better, it happened this way.

"Well, dearie," she says, seeing me sitting at the desk and wetting my hair plenty, "I suppose you are now going to give birth to another practically infallible system."

"Yes," I admits with pride. "This world beating system is based on the fact that hot favorites don't win often enough and when they do the odds ain't long enough to make it pay. That is why the slip snatchers find it easy to stay in business. But dark horses get the nod frequent, and besides at very juicy prices. So all we got to do to win us plenty dinero is to bet on the dark horses."

"How can we tell," asks the missus, just to make it difficult, "which is the dark horse?"

But my idea is so simple that I know even she will see it. "That is the sweet part of it," I says. "We don't have to guess the sleepers. All we do is eliminate the favorites and all the hides what ain't copped recent; and then we spread out our cherries on the rest of the field. The odds, you see, is usually so long that we can stand to lose on five or six tickets and still make ourselves a very excellent profit, indeed."

Then am I terrible surprised when the missus does not start roaring as usual but smiles very sweet and says the system looks perfect and she is going to help me with it.

"You will have to do a lot of fast figuring," she says, "so you can work on last-minute odds. But as this is such a good thing I know you will let the gang in on it and they can assist you with the pencil pushing. Therefore I will take Harry, the Pinhead's missus and Mudder McMork's latest rave, and we girls will rush the bets to the feed box and put it down like you boys say." Well, when I explains the system to the dopes and dames that night, they see it is so good that they are raring to go. They turn over their entire bank to the dames plus my total which I don't have to give to the missus as she has got it all the time.

Then Harry, the Pinhead, Beezer Bertie, Mudder McMork and me, stays up all night laying out the figuring as we are planning to start the next day when we will crack down our cherries on every heat so we can win ourselves several barrels of cherries pronto.

And right off we prove that this is a special super system without a doubt because after the first day we have only lost a little over four grand. Of course, we know that it takes a little time to shape up any high-class consistency system like we got and we are not discouraged nohow. Even after the third day when we have dropped now nearly fifteen grand, I know that our figuring is okay and we will soon clean us up plenty.

However, seeing as how the dames are in on this thing what with acting as our runners and placing our bets, I tells them that if they want to quit we will do so if they insist, even though we know we have at last got a perfect system.

Then we gets the breaks like we expected and we starts to win now and then. The dames brings us the dinero and we are all very happy indeed. This goes on win and lose every day, which, of course, our system takes care of, and everything works out perfect like we figured. The only trouble is that we lose more than we win and we are soon out a total of eighty grand, which is pretty near all of it. And before I has time to correct the error in the system, the ladies reports that we are down to our shirts and they need laundering.

"We hope," the fillies says, "that you boys have learned a lesson. And we want you to promise that you will stick to your own regular handicapping and lay off all crazy systems, at least, for the rest of the season."

Well, we swear to do like they say, as we are cleaned anyhow, and got nothing to lose. Which just goes to show it's plenty easter to figure bangtails than blonds, for the minute we makes the serious promise, the ladies confesses that they been carrying the dinero in their upholstery all the time, and they hadn't bet a dime!

Star Studded "Broadway Melody of 1936" Opens 6 Day Run At Parthenon Theatre Saturday

JACK BENNY IN "BROADWAY MELODY OF 1936"

So packed with entertainment is "Broadway Melody of 1936," which comes to the Parthenon Theatre Sunday for 6 days that it at once registers its right to acclaim as the greatest extravaganza to be made by Hollywood. Stars, story, music, dancing, all are present in satisfying and often thrilling form, so splendidly elaborate is the picture and so skillfully is it fashioned. There is glorious comedy, and the story takes dramatic turns which set it above the usual vehicle of its type. The plot is superbly woven amid the gorgeously spectacular specialties, and the many song hits all fall naturally out of the streaming action of the production.

Stage and Radio Star

For players the cast has as its top personality the gifted Jack Benny, now lending to the screen the brilliant talents that have made him a star of stage and the outstanding genius of radio broadcasting. He handles a grand role perfectly and he has the most ample and capable support from noted performers. Like Una Merkel, who rings the bell as a wise-cracking secretary; Robert Taylor, a grand romantic male lead, and others, Eleanor Powell wins triple honors in this picture for she is not only seen as the "world's greatest feminine tap dancer," but handles the ballerina demands finely, and in addition proves she is a fine dramatic actress.

It is practically an allstar cast. Among other triumphant players in the cast are Sid Silvers, "king of stooges," June Knight, Vilma and Buddy Ebsen, Nick Long, Jr., Frances Langford Harry Stockwell, Robert Wildhack and a great many more.
